

PORT ISAAC SCHOOL

After the morning service on Wednesday 21st. October, the children said 'thank you' to Mrs. Carney, with a 'thank you' gift, for all that she has done for the school.

At the Harvest Festival on the same day the children entertained the audience with songs and readings. The Auction in the evening raised £152 which will go to Oxfam to support the projects aimed at encouraging fair trading throughout the world which the children will be involved in finding out about this year.

Jane Scown, Headteacher.

After ten years I am no longer working at Port Isaac School and my life is poorer in many ways. My days are not enriched by the piping voices of children singing in Assembly; no choir, however musical and accomplished, has afforded me such heart tugging pleasure. Lunch time isn't enlivened by all those eager faces.. those bright eyed confidences.. 'it's my birthday' or 'My Mummy's had a baby'.. or 'You're a good cooker!' (Look out for me in SWEB's window, sale of old stock at a discount, of course.) To all those children and staff, past and present, who were so nice to me I wish to say 'Thank You', and I will miss you. And to Margaret Ford who has replaced me, good luck and go well. Only remember, I've left the school - I haven't left the village... speak to me as you pass!

Kathy Carney.

COULD YOU BE A FRIEND?

Do you enjoy good company? Have you got brilliant ideas? Could you keep basic accounts? Would you be prepared to give an occasional hour to help? If you can answer yes to any of these questions, please join us for a Social Evening at The Cornish Cafe on Thursday 5th. November at 8.00pm, when we will chat informally about setting up a 'Friends of Port Isaac School' group. Whether you have children at the school or not, if your children or grandchildren have attended in the past, or if you have no connection but can help us in any way, we'd be delighted to see you.

Cindy Powell.

TOURISM ASSOCIATION

We need to get the 1993 Port Isaac Guide ready for early December, so be sure to get any amended details to Malcolm Lee by 6th. November. The 1992 Guide has been distributed throughout the year at Tourist Information Centres and in local shops. Since May, 630 postal requests for the Guide have been answered. All these Guides are generating bookings for members, so be sure you are in it. Entry is free to paid-up members. If you are not yet a member, contact Malcolm on 880106.

Our visitors want to know about all the events organised by Port Isaac clubs and societies. This year, another successful 'What's On' fulfilled their need for this information. Entering your event is free, so when this winter you are deciding on what you are doing next summer, let us know the date as soon as possible. We also have access to regional free events diaries, but most of these go to press very early in the year, so the sooner you let us know, the more we can do to help. Help us to help you get the maximum free publicity for your event.

Geoff Wells, Chairman,

Port Isaac and District Tourism Association.

CONGRATULATIONS

to 1st. Port Isaac Rainbows who celebrated their first Birthday in October.

No words can convey how much I appreciated the support I received during my last weeks at the Golden Lion. I would not have survived without the unconditional support of my 'workforce' - thanks, gang, you were amazing. Family friends and customers were brilliant too.

Many thanks to everyone who made my 'last night' so pleasant, Eric for one of his famous poems, and my presents from the staff and customers.

I would like to wish Mike and Nicki Edkins good luck and happiness at the Golden lion.

There is still no news of Neville. I am going to stay with my sister for a while but I shall be back. Once again an enormous thank you to everyone - I'll never forget your support.

Enid Andrews.

TELEPHONE KIOSK

I do not accept the claim that the area of grass adjacent to my shop is not my property. I have a copy of my title deeds which clearly show that the ground forms part of the overall area of my premises. In addition I wish to set the record straight with regard to the siting of a telephone box on this piece of land. I do not want a kiosk put there, and as long as the land is my property, I will continue to oppose such an installation. I would therefore prefer that no further reference is made to this subject.

John Macdonald,

Proprietor, The Bay Newsagents.

NICKY ROSE

Eileen and Don Dunsdon would like to thank all those kind people who rang and contacted them to express sympathy, and offered help, on the death of their grandson Nicky Rose. Nicky's funeral service was held in Dorset on Wednesday 21st. October. We would like to express our condolences to them for the loss of a very dear child whom so many of us knew and loved.

ISSUE NO 116 · OCTOBER 1992

EDITORIAL

The Diary is the hardest part of Trio to compile. Some people helpfully put their dates on a separate sheet of paper and if everybody did this it might ensure events are not left out. It is very difficult to pick them up and insert them in the Diary while typing articles out.

Things are looking up! There is a splendid new nameplate at the top of Margaret's Lane.

Unfortunately we have to put up signs at the Blackthorn Press asking car owners to leave the forecourt access clear. Will those who steal the posts kindly return them.

P.S. Have you had your flu jab yet?

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Last year we had record donations, in excess of £60 over the previous year.

This year Fr. Michael Bartlett will take the service at St. Peter's on Sunday 8th. November. The sermon will be by Mr. Charles Philp, after which wreaths will be laid on the Memorial. The house to house collection will be during the week commencing November 1st. Wreaths will be on display in the Drug Store window.

PARISH COUNCIL

An unofficial report compiled from notes taken by a member of the public during the meeting held at the Church Rooms, Port Isaac, on Monday 14th. September. For accurate information, please refer to Parish Council minutes.

David Welton reported that there were two trees down across the path between Trewetha and Port Isaac Mill. The Parish Council will write to the owner of the land at the mill pool while David offered to deal with one in the 'bridle lane' up to Trewetha where it could be difficult to find out who the owns the land.

Public Discussion

Peggy Richards said that a police officer will attend Parish Council meetings and that he sent 'apologies for absence' to the present one.

Doris Hambly asked about the 'slow' signs for Trewetha and was told they are in hand, but there is no news about proposed tree planting.

Robin Penna pointed out that the street lights at the bottom of Fore Street were still out and the Clerk explained the difficulties S.W.E.B. were facing in organising the necessary street closure.

Olive Strout complained about David Phelps standing up to speak while she was exercising her right to address the Council during 'Public Discussion' last month. David denied this and asked for the complaint not to be recorded.

Report from the 'Seats' Committee:

A tender for repainting had been accepted and the work is in progress. Only one of three new seats which were ordered was available as the factory in Ireland had been blown up. Unless the order can eventually be fulfilled, other suppliers are to be sought.

Report from the Playing Field Committee:

David Phelps said that permission had been granted for continued use of the car park by the Chatterbus. The Committee had decided that the boat provided for the children to play in would stay where it is.

Report from the School Representative:

Bill Norris reported that, owing to ill health, Cathy Carney had stood down from her position at the school kitchen. He also reported that Mr. Hudspith was the new auxiliary assistant for the junior class.

Report from the representative to Cornwall Association of Town and Parish Councils:

Henry Symons expressed concern about increased fly-tipping since charges have been introduced for collecting business refuse. The tip at St. Erth must be kept open, for example, as the nearest one otherwise is 40 - 50 miles away, too far for most business people. Mark Provis said North Cornwall had the longest hauls of any district - from St. Agnes to Bude. The transport costs were horrific and would be borne by ratepayers. St. Austell gets subsidised because, although it is a shorter distance, they have to go outside their area. Henry Symons proposed that a letter should be sent from St. Endellion Parish to support the campaign.

Report from the representative to the Local Road Safety Committee:

Henry Symons said now that road safety is a Parish Council duty, the Committee had been wound up as they would no longer be taken any notice of and could therefore do nothing useful apart from educating people.

Procedure

David Philp asked whether during 'Committee Reports' the Parish Council should take action on matters arising as these were not actually specified on the agenda.

Hand Rail for Footpath from Tintagel Terrace to New Road

Eric Stokes had heard from Mrs. Julian that steps to the path are hard to climb as there is no handrail. He offered to provide one for the price of the materials. Henry Symons pointed out that a handrail not of an approved type, could render the Council liable in the case of an accident. Eric Stokes replied that an accident was more likely while there was no hand rail at all. His offer was accepted.

Trimming the Co-Op Footpath

Mr. Barriball speaking on behalf of Cllr. Bill Dawe, who was absent, said that hedges alongside the path were growing out and blocking the path. David Phelps said the hedges all belonged to private individuals who should be made to trim them as elsewhere. The Highway Authority to be asked to contact landowners.

Hillson Close

The road was fully adopted on 12th. June and is now a public highway.

Proposed Telephone Box, Tintagel Terrace

Responding to Mr. McDonald's claim that the land adjacent to Bay Newsagents belongs to him, Cornwall County Council state that the 1907 Ordnance Survey plan shows the land open to public use and forming part of the public highway and can be dealt with accordingly. British Telecom have received a letter from Mr. McDonald's solicitor, however, and the plan will be postponed while the matter is settled.

CLERK'S REPORT

a. A complaint that the position of a dog litter bin on the Terrace was reducing parking space. North Cornwall District Council will be asked if the bin can be placed outside the railing.

b. Eric Stokes was nominated as Parish Council representative on the St. James Smith School Sport Centre Management Committee.

c. Barclays Bank expressed sympathy about the closure of their Port Isaac sub-branch and said that the building will be put up for public sale and perhaps the Council might know somebody who would like to purchase it.

d. A letter from North Cornwall District Council said that apart from a letter from Malcolm Lee, they had received no other direct complaint about street cleaning in Port Isaac. The streets were being 'scavenged' rather than swept as 'sweeping' was not defined in the contract. Bill Norris said that he remembered no mention of the word 'scavenge' when the Parish Council was originally approached on the matter. Mark Provis said that the streets have been clean this year, and the lad who does the work walks as far as he can in the time allocated, but what had happened to the promised refuse collection point over the leaf?. To be discussed next month.

e. The Golden Lion licence transfer was noted.

f. A letter of thanks from North Cornwall Heritage Coast Service for the Parish Council's co-operation with the season's well-attended 'Parish Walks'. David Bolton said thanks are really due to Robin Penna who did most of it.

g. Slow signs for Trelights are on schedule.

h. David Phelps asked for action to be taken about the Kennards House road junction.

There were no planning applications.

Next Meeting

The next monthly meeting of the Parish Council will be held on Monday 9th. November at 7.30pm. in the Church Rooms, Port Isaac.

PORT ISAAC STICK INSECTS

Thanks to all those who rang me this summer with sightings of these fascinating insects. The cold wet and windy summer and autumn has not suited them at all, and they are unlikely to survive much longer, but they will have laid sufficient eggs to ensure their offspring will be back in 1993. I am still interested in any more sightings you might have, and if you have been meaning to contact me, but have not got around to it, now is the time. If any of you have ever kept stick insects, particularly if you have photos of them, I would be delighted to hear from you.

Malcolm Lee, 880106.

NEIGHBOURHOOD WATCH

A 'Steering Group' was elected at the public meeting on 13th. October, under the temporary chairmanship of Parish Councillor David Phelps, who explained that the meeting was nothing to do with the Parish Council. A 'co-ordinator' will be appointed and registered with Detective Constable Ray Sykes who is responsible for Neighbourhood Watch schemes in this area. There will be a need for 'sub-coordinators' to cover about every twenty houses and report anything suspicious they may notice to the coordinator. Signs will be purchased, for which some fund-raising will be necessary, and put up to create an awareness that people are keeping their eyes open. Some insurance companies offer reductions in their premiums where schemes like this operate.

Nobody came to represent Trelights, but it was thought better for the whole of the parish to be included in the scheme and volunteers will be sought for all areas. Peggy Richards already runs a scheme of her own with helpers prepared to let her know if they notice anything wrong but who prefer their names not to be publicised, fearing they might become targets for attack from misguided members of the community. The present scheme intends to publicise the names of the sub-coordinators but the two schemes can operate side by side to pool information. Peggy Richards agreed to be a member of the Steering Group. Other volunteers were Eric Stokes, Melanie Dingle, and 'Ros' Roskilly. The main aim is to 'nail' professional crime. The sub-coordinators will not be interested in snooping around checking on car licences, etc. but will be vigilant for evidence of criminals many of whom come from outside the village intent on clearing somebody's home out.

Steering Group Meeting

All members of the Group were present at a meeting in the Cornish Cafe on Monday 19th. October, and two members of the local police, Sgt. Peter Richards and P.C. Peter Strong, attended to give help and advice on how to set-up and work a Neighbourhood Watch Scheme.

Melanie Dingle was asked to be Hon. Secretary and Ros Roskilly Hon. Treasurer. Fund-raising was discussed and it was thought it might be a good idea to visit another local group and see how they managed.

The Scheme is not there to detect crime but, with the aid of the residents of Port Isaac, to act as a deterrent to would-be criminals. Will anybody who wishes to participate in the Scheme please contact David Phelps

Should you see or hear anything you feel unsure about you can, if you so wish, contact David or one of the sub-coordinators, whose names will be published at a later date. We must stress that if you think a crime is being committed, you should still dial 999 for immediate attention.

SHIPWRIGHT INN

There weren't really any lawns in front of the pub on the Terrace, so when Rod and Sheila Baker took over, they decided to honour the original owner, George Moth - builder of ocean yachts - and call it 'The Shipwright Inn'. It opened on Saturday evening 19th. September to a scene that looked rather like Port Isaac's answer to 'Coronation Street' with everybody present. Rod and Sheila look forward to providing friendly, comfortable surroundings for that quick drink, midday meal, or evening out.

THE OLD LADY'S JEWELS

The old lady called Port Isaac, is in a bit of a state
Though it isn't Xmas yet,
it's getting rather late.
She's very agitated,
and there's a special reason.
She needs a bit of money
around the Festive Season.

Last winter we had lots of rain and the gales were rather reckless,
She lost a lot of sparklers
and her best Roscarrock necklace.
She needs a bit of money
to restore her decorations
So now we are appealing to her friends and her relations.

We need every penny
we can beg, steal or borrow.
Don't forget our Jumble Sale
on Saturday (tomorrow).
Linda's coffee morning
on November seventeen
Come and spend a quid
in Fairholme's pleasant scene.

We hope to switch the lights
on the 12th. of December,
St. Breward Band and Carols
on the night and remember
Hot wine and Mince Pies.

We hope you'll all be fed
So dig into your cupboard
for that odd pint of red.
50 pence will help
to buy another coloured light
You must admit our village is a very pretty sight.

So come along and sing a song
as we light up for a while Let's celebrate our Christmas in a very special style.

P.S. A ring to 880907, and I'll pick up any donations, bottles, etc.
There will be a Safari Supper on Saturday 5th. December. Tickets and details from Muriel Spry and Enid Andrews. Book now.

FULMAR IN FLIGHT

When I arrived here, as the new Student Warden at National Trust Lundy Bay properties, I walked around Com Head to Pengirt Cove where I noticed the Fulmar. At first I thought it was a gull but its flight showed it was far superior. I sat and watched the birds appearing to make false attempts at landing on the cliff edge. There were five, playing follow-the-leader, all preparing to land, then wheeling away. Their feet would extend and touch, then push away using the wind deflected from the cliff to gain height, then, with a precise turn coming around to repeat the movement. When bored with one area they moved to another.

The Fulmar Petrel, an Arctic colonizer from the Antarctic, is one of the world's most northerly breeding birds, closely related to the Albatross and Petrels, although, unlike other Petrels, they nest above ground free from threat. Their interesting defence is to regurgitate oil and spit it at their prey.

A tube on the top of the beak allows the bird to excrete the salt from sea water enabling it to drink. The bird's habits continually change and keep it mysteriously interesting.

Their only breeding site was once St. Kilda, Scotland, but they are now established here, their most southerly site.

The Fulmar was slower to prospect the south coast, probably because lower less isolated cliffs did not provide enough security. They first bred in the County in 1944 and now colonise the entire coast.

They were first sighted over Pentire Point in April 1936 and then more frequently between Tintagel and Pentire until 1948, when the first egg was found at Port Quin. In 1949 a pair bred at Bossiney Cove. They continued to breed here successfully until 1954 although in 1955 no pairs were sighted. There was a sudden increase the following year to about 50 pairs, and to 60 in 1957.

The area between Pentire and Port Quin seemed to be an ideal site as there were 41 possible nests in 1969, with the most recent report in 1989. The results show that Tintagel had become a less popular breeding place with the birds moving towards Pentire. The best present site appears to be Port Gaverne.

The birds arrive at their breeding sites in late December and January. The chicks hatch in mid-July and are flying six-and-a-half weeks later, spending the next three or five years of their lives at sea. Adult birds leave the cliffs at this time, rarely making an appearance again until the end of the year.

ST. ENDELLION CHURCH

Golden Jubilee

The Revd. Alan Wainwright celebrated a Eucharist in thanksgiving for a Golden Jubilee of his priesthood, in the church on Monday 28th. September. Father Alan, as he is affectionately known, was ordained priest in All Saints, Cheltenham, on 27th. September 1942. He served in various parishes in the South-East before coming to the Truro Diocese in 1971. Many of his relatives, former colleagues and friends filled the church for the service at which the Rt. Revd. Richard Cartwright was preacher. On the previous day at the United Benefice Eucharist in St. Kew, the Revd. Prebendary Michael Bartlett presented Fr. Alan with garden tokens on behalf of the parishes of St. Peter's, Port Isaac, St. Kew and St. Endellion in gratitude for his ministry among us.

Readers' Meeting

Many of the people who regularly read lessons in the three churches of the United Benefice, attended a meeting in St. Kew Church on Monday 28th. September to discuss the art of reading aloud effectively.

St. Matthew's Day

The Revd. M. Bartlett was celebrant at a Said Eucharist for the Feast of St. Matthew. Mr. Jim Watson was server and reader. At a similar Service to celebrate the Feast of St. Michael and All Angels, the Revd. M. Bartlett officiated and Mrs. Bertie Watson was server and reader.

New Sunday School

The United Benefice Sunday School of the three parishes made a flying start on Sunday 4th. October when 30 children attended the opening session. A Nativity play is being produced this term by Mrs. Liz Bartlett and helpers on Sunday were Mrs. Maria Birch and Marcus Bartlett. The children and teachers joined the congregation during the Sung Eucharist which they have done regularly since.

Bishop's Farewell

The Rector with two other Prebendaries of St. Endellion and some parishioners joined a large congregation in Truro Cathedral on 3rd. October for a farewell Evensong for the Rt. Revd. Richard Llewellyn, Bishop of St. Germans and Mrs. Jennifer Llewellyn, who are moving to Dover.

Perranzabuloe Pilgrimage

Servers from St. Endellion attended a Church Union Pilgrimage at Perranzabuloe Church in October where Rector Revd. Anthony Wright, was former Head Teacher at Port Isaac School.

Healing Eucharist

A well attended Eucharist was held in the church on Wednesday 7th. October. The Revd. M. Bartlett was celebrant and Mrs. Judith Pollinger led the healing service. Coffee was served afterwards by Mrs. Pam Richards.

The Julian Group October meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mulley, Polzeath and was led by Mrs. Joyce Griffiths.

Ringers from Week St. Mary have recently rung the bells at the church.

A splendid Concert to raise funds for the church roof was given in the church on Saturday 10th. October by Louis Carus and Teo Li-Lin.

Work on the church roof began on Monday 12th. October.

Bishop of Durham

Parishioners from the St. Endellion and St. Kew joined with hundreds of others who travelled to Truro to listen to the Rt. Revd. David Jenkins, Bishop of Durham, lecturing and preaching in the Cathedral and conducting workshops in Archbishop's Benson's School during the weekend 16th. to 18th. October.

LIFEBOAT

A Coffee Morning was held by Mr. and Mrs. Soley, Copper Beeches, St. Kew, which raised the sum of £125 for the branch. This year's AGM will be held on 10th. December at 8.00pm. in the Penhaligon Room, Port Isaac. All are welcome. We are always looking for new Committee members with new ideas. We are also seeking a new Press Officer. If anyone has any interest in dealing with the media: press, TV and Radio, please do come along.

Vic Hingley, Chairman.

Villagers have asked why the RNLI has ceased to use maroons as a call-out method for the crew. I give below an extract from the Chief of Operations RNLI, dated 9th April 1992. 'Use of Hand Maroons': 'Recently there have been two potentially fatal incidents involving hand maroons fired in support of service call outs. One incident involved a hand maroon which, although correctly fired, had deviated from its intended track and had gone through a Guest House bedroom window. It continued upwards through the ceiling and into the roof space finally detonating close to the gutter. Severe damage was caused to the roof and dormer window and a large length of cast iron guttering was displaced and fell onto cars parked below. Fortunately nobody was injured in either of these incidents. It was made clear in my previous circular that hand maroons, as with all pyrotechnics, are potentially dangerous and are only to be used as a back-up to the paging system as a last resort'.

The Lifeboat was called out twice since the last report in Trio:

17th. September - a call to a windsurfer in trouble in the Camel Estuary. The Lifeboat was recalled as the casualty had been picked up by a passing fishing boat.

19th. September - a call to search for a missing child in the sea at Polzeath. Lifeboat searched the area, but child had been re-united with her father, safe and well - a false alarm call with good intent.

David Castle.

On Wednesday 4th. November, from 10.30am. onwards, there will be a Coffee Morning at Valencia House, Rose Hill, with Christmas cards, Calendars, Diaries, etc. on sale. Come and buy your Christmas stocking fillers. Also Raffle, Cakes, Bring & Buy. Everyone welcome. Come and support your local Lifeboat.

PORT ISAAC ROWING CLUB

Tickets are now on sale for our 2nd Annual Dinner and Dance, being held this year at St. Moritz Hotel on November 21st. Cabaret is by Port Isaac's own singing star 'Rachel'. Tickets £12.50 from Carole Provis or Jan Rowe. Book early to avoid disappointment.

The Sheepdog Trials held at Trewiggett raised the sum of £125. The weather, after a very bad start came good for us once again. Many sheepdog owners from all over the county came to take part in the trials and would have done justice to 'One Man and His Dog'. The pet dog competition was a great success with a large assortment of dogs, adults, and children taking part in a variety of fun classes. Thanks to Julie? (nee Parsons) for doing so well the unenviable job of judging. Our thanks to Juliet Tom who spent Hours organising the whole event, and to rowing club members who turned up to help.

Bingo, Church Rooms, Tuesday 10th November, eyes down at 7.30pm. Superb prizes.

Jan Rowe.

PORT ISAAC W.I.

Our October meeting held in the Tea Pot was - as usual - most interesting and enjoyable. Speaker Mrs. J. Martin from St. Agnes told us about being a Market Research Interviewer. The talk was peppered with witty and funny anecdotes and we all learned a lot about this rather mysterious subject.

The competition 'A Subject for Market Research' was won by Eileen Morris, Pat Rex, and Zofia Fry. Flower of the month: Zofia Fry and Nina Oliver.

We are having our annual Post-Christmas Lunch at the Cornish Cafe on Monday 11th. January, 12.30 for 1.00pm. price £6, raffle, and usual fun and jollifications. Everyone from the village is cordially invited.

Zofia Fry.

A Coffee Morning was held on September 17th. at the home of Mrs. Sybil Brown, 19 Mayfield Road and the sum of £89 was raised. Winners of the raffle were Mrs. Norton, Mrs. M. Hoskin, Mrs. N. Honey and Mrs. E. Trickett.

CANCER RESEARCH CAMPAIGN

There cannot be many among us whose lives have not been touched, directly or indirectly, by cancer. If you would like to do something positive to help combat this scourge of the 20th century, please come along to the Church Rooms on Wednesday 4th. November at 7.00pm. to meet Alan Sanders the Appeals Secretary for the area, and hopefully form a Port Isaac branch. There used to be a very active and effective Cancer Research group in Port Isaac: with your help there could be one again. Anyone requiring transport, please ring Sylvia McCrohon on 880778.
