The vets races were held on the Friday evening and we entered two supervets crews; the ladies' crew came 5th and the men came 6th. The races on Saturday started with a line up of over 125 gigs. We entered two ladies' crews and one men's crew and had some good races on Saturday and Sunday. During the first race on Sunday, both of the ladies' crews and also the men's crew dropped a heat, meaning that they all entered the final race in Heat H. The conditions were perfect, the sun was shining, there was a great atmosphere - and a heightened sense of competition between Port Isaac's crews! One ladies' crew won a trophy for Heat H, with the other coming 3rd in that heat. The men's crew also won their heat and respective trophy. Our thanks goes to Graham Sylvester at The Port Gaverne Hotel for sponsoring us by providing the t-shirts for all our crews and also for displaying our trophies at the hotel.

We are looking forward to more rowing at Port Isaac and especially to the George Moth and Mark Provis Day on 30th June. This will be a day of racing for novice gig rowers, starting at approximately 11am at Port Isaac and there will be a barbecue on The Platt for this event. If you would like to enter a crew, please call Steve Hudspith on tel: 07794 780041.

Barbara Santi, director of Awen Productions, explains "Tre is a Cornish word for home/homestead. We've toured our archive film programme across Cornwall in village halls and festivals and we are pleased to be going to Port Isaac to screen a tailor made programme which will include archive on fishing, farming and Cornish Trades and Industries of the area. To include a rare screening of the atmospheric 1930's 'Cornish Nets' made by the Barnes Brothers."

The two-hour programme with interval and refreshments is suitable for all ages.

Chicks and Ducklings

A big thank you to Mandy who helped us with the equipment and her expertise in hatching our ducklings and chicks this year. It was exciting for the children to see the babies in our classrooms

Daffodils!

This term the children have been involved in planting daffodils on the grass verges outside our school.

Thank you to Mr and Mrs Fletcher for arranging this in association with the Marie Curie charity.

One sunny afternoon small groups of children went out to plant the bulbs in various places and by the time they had finished over 1000 bulbs had been put to ground. Hopefully everyone will be able to enjoy the fruits of their labours next spring.

Tag Rugby

The team played fantastically well and finished in second place. They all received medals as well as a certificate for their efforts and we are very proud of them!

news & views from Port Isaac School

The School Governors are pleased to announce that with effect from June 3rd, Miss Sarah Duffy is to be our Executive Head Teacher. We will share her with Boscastle CP School where she has been the Head Teacher for the last 12 years. She will spend two and a half days in each school, overseeing all that goes on and planning for the future.

We have, of course, had an Executive Head Teacher for three years now, sharing Mr Bishop's services with other schools so the situation is not new.

The aim ultimately is to enter into a Federation with Boscastle School which will mean two schools, with separate budgets but one Executive Head Teacher and one board of Governors. We see this as the best way to protect and keep open both of these small schools in the future. Boscastle School is about the same size as us and the villages have great similarities (the Primary schools around us – St Kew, Delabole and St Teath are each already either successfully in Federation or moving towards it with other schools).

We have an excellent Primary School in the village where the children are happy and making very good progress. Under Miss Duffy's leadership we are sure that the school will continue to flourish and the opportunities for our children will be extended. We wish her every success.

Finally, small schools with falling roles are under threat of closure. As with the village shops, the old adage applies – use it or lose it!

Chair of Governors*

The future of radio. Now.

Your local community radio station NCB Radio broadcasting worldwide from Bodmin is now pleased to be able to offer local bands some great opportunities.

Situated in the same building as the radio studios is a state of the art recording facility. Bands are now invited to apply to come into the studio on a Thursday evening to play a live set which will be broadcast around the world. Bands can play between four and five tracks and will have time to set up and sound check beforehand.

A highly experienced engineer will be on site to assist and, usually, a drum kit can already be set up to save time.

Not only do you get the chance to play live on air, but you then get the chance to take away with you a fully mastered version of what you have played. This means that you get an EP fully produced and mastered into the bargain!

The ability to play on air live is entirely free. Fully mastered versions of the tracks are available by negotiation with prices starting at just £20. This is undoubtedly far cheaper than you would pay in a commercial recording studio.

This is another service offered to you by your local community radio station. NCB can only survive if it is supported by the community and please do the very best thing you can by tuning in. You can listen to the station in these ways

www.ncbradio.co.uk

There are 64 days between June 1st and Race Day on the August 4th and 85 days before Carnival day. Now is the time that you should all be thinking about your rafts and floats.

RAFT RACE

Race day is looking big. We are hoping for a multiple race event this year with the first race starting around 4pm. There will be prizes for the best raft and the best dressed team. The team that wins the main race will walk away with the £100 prize money and the much sought after shield.

A challenge has been made to other carnival committees to come and compete against us. This, we hope, will make it a huge race. On a smaller scale we are looking into having a junior race that will allow the younger ones to share the fun.

We know that it is going to be difficult containing your excitement for the whole day so we have put together an array of entertainment that should keep you going. Be sure to read next months Trio for full details.

Raft race entry forms and a full list of the rules and regulations can be obtained either by email - portisaaccarnival@hotmail.co.uk, FaceBook or at Nicky Bs.

CARNIVAL

August 24th @ 6pm

We learned a few lessons from last years Carnival which has prompted us to make a few changes.

Lesson one - You are not going to get entrants from other carnivals before they have attended their own. So we have changed our date to August 24th. This was the only date available to us that did not clash with other carnivals closer than Bude. Entry forms and a full list of categories can be obtained either by email - portisaaccarnival@hotmail.co.uk, FaceBook or at Nicki Bs.

Lesson two - Children get bored doing nothing. So we have changed the start time to 6pm. This means that the procession will start straight after the judging.

Lesson three - The front of the procession should not be fighting its way through the back end when making its way back. So the route has been changed. The procession will now follow Trewetha Lane down past the Village Hall and onto Back Hill making its way past the chip shop and up Fore Street where it will join New Road and head back to the Playing Field. The roads will be closed from 5pm and will re-open at 7pm.

Lesson four - Its not much fun hanging around in the rain. We all know that the sun is going to shine this year. What we don't know is where. Just in case its not over Port Isaac we have arranged for a marquee that should provide both shelter and a venue for some great entertainment.

Lesson five - People will come even if its raining. This year the "Fun on the Field" will take place regardless of weather. We have arranged some great entertainment for the evening. Book your babysitter now as it will be entertainment you won't want to miss. Full details will be in next months Trio.

Peggy and Thomas can never thank the friends and neighbours enough for what you did when I had a fall recently. You are a super bunch and a wonderful community.

Saintly legends

Could a book full of saintly tales ever become a best-seller? Improbable and yet the Golden Legend (or 'Acts of the Saints') was once as widely read and well-known as the bible was in Christian Europe at the end of the 15th century.

Full of fanciful stories of Christian saints we might attribute its popularity to the ignorance of its readers who couldn't tell fiction from fact. It was certainly the view of many reformers who condemned the book and its improbable tales.

On reading the stories of this book, however, it's difficult not to conclude that their popularity is explained more easily by sex and violence. For there is an awful lot of both in these saintly tales, even if the sex tends to revolve around vows of chastity and the violence around grisly forms of martyrdom. The stories of the Golden Legend can make Tarantino films seem prudish by comparison. Yet the violence of these saintly tales is not identical to that of today's popular culture. Whereas today's heroes most often use violence as a means to bring about justice, revenge or redemption, whether for themselves or others, the saints of the Golden Legend are the victims of violence, redeemed by their refusal either to be cowed by or to embrace the violence of their persecutors.

One also finds gentler tales in the Golden Legend such as the lovely story of St Josephat, the son of a pagan king who, so worried by the thought his son might become discontent and convert to Christianity, builds for him a pleasure palace where no intimation of suffering or need is permitted. Inevitably the son gets bored and leaves his palace whereupon, despite the best efforts of his father, he encounters the imperfections of this world – poverty, disease, ageing and death. The shock of these discoveries, and of being told that any man may suffer them and all will one day die, prompts the son to question the meaning of his life; questions that in due course lead him to embrace the Christian faith, become a better king, and eventually a desert hermit and teacher.

If this story reminds you of a central figure of another religion then you would not be wrong as it is considered a Christian re-telling of the stories told of the young Buddha.

As I write an act of real violence dominates the news. Once again it is tempting to look away or to respond with violence, if only of word and thought, or to look upon such deeds as revealing a dark and deeper reality to human nature. Much harder is it to contemplate the reality of such violence while refusing it the power to determine our response.

The tales of the Golden Legend remind us that the reality of violence and suffering needs to be faced, but accepted neither as the final word nor as more real than the reality of love, peace and charity. Sometimes we are right to be shocked – shocked into recognizing violence for what it is and denying it any place in either our faith or our lives.

Concert at St Endellion Church

Bach Pilgrimage – Tuesday June 4th at 7.30pm

The distinguished British violinist, Thomas Bowes will this summer become a pilgrim of that musical giant, JS Bach. Playing in places of worship from Scotland to Cornwall, he hopes that these concerts will raise money for local good causes as well as allowing the transcendent beauty of Bach's Six Sonatas and Partitas for solo violin to fully inhabit the atmosphere of these most compatible spaces. This concert is part of Tom's pilgrimage.

Tom is a former leader of the St Endellion Festival Orchestra so it will be a delight to welcome him back to St Endellion Church. The concert will be interwoven with readings by no less distinguished west country poets, Ann Gray and David Woolley. Tickets, £10 (free for under 16s accompanied by an adult), will be available on the door.

RNLI GALLANTRY MEDALS FOR NICKI, MATT & DAMIEN

Nicki, Matt and Damien with HRH the Duke of Kent

It was a proud day for Port Isaac when the courage of three of our RNLI crew was recognised at a special ceremony at the Barbican in London on May 23rd. Nicki Bradbury, Matt Main and Damien Bolton were among seven RNLI volunteers who were awarded medals for gallantry, the RNLI's highest accolades.

Launching the Port Isaac lifeboat into extremely challenging conditions, they faced rough and dangerous seas as they tried to rescue two people swept into the sea from the cliffs in April 2012. Helmsman Damien was given a Silver medal and Nicki and Matt both were given Bronze medals for their part in the rescue.

Over 25 local people were able to attend the Barbican presentations to support our crew members. The RNLI now invites everyone to the annual Lifeboat Service on the Platt on Sunday June 2nd at 12.30pm during which there will be a re-issuing of the medals. Said Chairman Bob Bulgin, "We look forward to seeing you all there - it will be a truly special day in the long history of Port Isaac RNLI."

Chairman's note: It is interesting to note that the previous award of a Silver medal for gallant rescue work carried out by Port Isaac RNLI, was to Charles Mitchell in 1870 when three crew were saved from the wreck of Brig Stepheno Grosso of Genoa. In February 2011 crew members, Nigel Sherratt and Ian Johnson, received letters of commendation for the rescue of seven gig rowers whose boat had capsized in heavy seas off Port Isaac.

SENIOR HELMSMAN & STATION TRAINING OFFICER'S REPORT

Training has been going well, recently involving an exercise with Navy Sea King 193. The importance of these helicopter exercises are paramount and it is essential but also a privilege to be able to train with both the RAF and Navy.

The exercise involved the tricky manoeuvring of under way transfers where the helicopter holds a course at around 12 knots. We then format underneath the helicopter as they lower the casualty into the boat.

These types of scenarios are very common in lifeboat operations and I have to say every helm on the day showed a good level of competency when carrying out the exercise.

You will hopefully see Navy 193 and RAF 169 back in the bay carrying out some more training in the next month or two, and don't forget Navy 193 will be with us on our annual Lifeboat Larks.

We have also seen Matthew Main signed off from his Helm development plan and he is now acting as a fair weather helm on station - congratulations Matthew and remember this is where the real training begins!

I would also like to welcome back onto the crew Richard Hambly who is now one of our deputy launching authorities.

Finally a big welcome to another new crew member, Andrew Hallam. Andrew had a baptism of fire on exercise by being winched up and flown round in the Sea King aircraft. He will have to get his head round the fact that this is how we spend our Sunday mornings!

There are still spaces at the station for new crew and deputy launching authorities so if you are interested on becoming a part of Port Isaac's history and the RNLI please get in contact with either Phil Tidey at the station or me on 01208 880160.

LIFEBOAT LARKS

The time is nearly upon us for one of Port Isaac RNLI's fundraising events of the year - Lifeboat Larks. Most know the format but for those who don't it is a fun day for all the family, on the Platt, on the beach and in the sea at Port Isaac Harbour.

Apart from the usual stalls of clothes, drink, RNLI cards, pictures and clothes, there will be Punch & Judy, BBQ, bouncy castle, childrens games and painting competition, ice cream and doughnut stalls and much more. This year promises some new surprises. We also hope to have a visit from the helicopter crew from Culdrose, but this can never be confirmed and depends on their commitments and call-outs on the day.

The date is Sunday August 25th, so put aside the day for fun and enjoyment and say some prayers that the weather will be kind to us all.

More details in next months Trio and on posters nearer the time.

If anyone wants to book a table on the beach to sell their goods, please contact me on 01208 880386. I do ask that you bring your own table or stall as we cannot provide these for you. Your donation to the RNLI for the day is £15.00. Thank you,

Annie Price

AN EVENING WITH MONTY HALLS

PORT ISAAC VILLAGE HALL

THURSDAY AUGUST 1ST AT 6.30PM

Port Isaac RNLI has great pleasure in assisting Monty Halls in bringing his story to our village which has such strong links, historically and currently, to our own fishermen and the way of the sea..

Monty is associated with the RNLI as a station official at Dartmouth RNLI and also closely involved with the British Divers Marine Life Rescue organisation, originally founded in Port Isaac for the Cornwall area, and now represented in our village by RNLI Deputy Press Officer and committee member Faye Archell and RNLI Helmsman Del Allerton-Baldwin.

Monty will tell the story of the filming of 'The Great Escape' series on the West Coast of Scotland and in Ireland. He also reveals the extraordinary story behind the filming of the multi international award winning Great Barrier Reef series.

Most important of all, Monty explores the issues that emerged during the filming of the 'Fisherman's Apprentice; in Cornwall. Never has there been such a critical time for British marine life, and indeed the survival of our fishing fleets.

Small boats, large trawlers, shark attacks, close shaves, unique footage, tall tales world class images and a lot of sea-sickness - this event has it all!

Following the presentation there will be the opportunity for question and answer and book signing session. 10% of all sales from the evening will go to The Fisherman's Mission, a charity close to Monty's heart.

DON'T MISS THIS CHANCE TO MEET ONE OF THE BBC'S MOST POPULAR ADVENTURE AND WILDLIFE PRESENTERS

Tickets cost £10 and can be purchased direct via www.montyhalls.co.uk/shop or contact 01208 880765 or reb37@btinternet.com

Liam does it again!

Port Isaac's Liam Strout has been chosen as reserve for the GB U16 surf team. He is travelling to Nicaragua on June 3rd with the team and as two members are currently injured there is a small chance he will be competing. Good luck Liam.

Sponsored walk for Cancer Research

On July 10th I am going to walk from Camelford to Jamaica Inn to raise money for Cancer Research. I will be joined by my friends Kath Thomas and Amanda Brown along with my little brother Daryl and some of his friends. We leave the Mason's Arms at Camelford at 10am and our aim is to raise at least £200 (we already have £147 pledged!).

If you would like to sponsor me you can call me on 0797 2022482 or you can donate via paypal as a gift to kailie\_2005@hotmail.co.uk You can also make a pledge via Dayl if you see him around the village. Just give him your name and address and the amount you wish to donate. Here's the link for my facebook page about the walk <https://www.facebook.com/#!/events/258435877633864/>

We have all been affected by Cancer, some worse than others, and unless we continue to raise money for essential research we may never cure it. I want to know that I've done as much as I can to help beat this disease so please dig deep. If you want to join us please contact me and we can arrange a sponsor form for you!

A Taste of Port Isaac

The PISCES cookery book is still on sale around the village. We have sold over 1200 copies in 10 months.

It makes a memorable gift for anyone who want a souvenir of the real Port Isaac!

Thank you again to everyone who contributed. We are still planning a new edition for next year; so don't forget to dig out your recipes and illustrations.

Dan Rogerson, our local MP

Since I last wrote for the Trio, Parliament saw one of the big set-pieces of the political year – the State Opening of Parliament at the start of May. Aside from all the pomp and ceremony of the State Opening of Parliament, the Queen's Speech outlines which new laws will be debated by Parliament in the coming year. We are now in the final 2 years of this Parliament and the Coalition Government, and whilst there are less radical reforms, I am pleased that many long-held Liberal Democrat policies are set to become law in order to help us build both a stronger economy and a fairer society including: introducing a new 'flat rate' pensions system to make saving for retirement simpler and fairer, especially to thousands of women and the self-employed; new laws to tackle anti-social behaviour; capping social care costs so that people don't have to sell their homes to fund their long-term care; and more money to help families with the cost of childcare.

On May 2nd people went to the polls to elect new Cornwall Councillors for their areas. I would like to congratulate Andy Penny on his election as Cornwall Councillor for the St Minver and St Endellion division. As I write this, the political groups on the council are discussing how best to work together to serve the people of Cornwall. It is a privilege to represent my home area of North Cornwall in Parliament, and it is always my top priority to fight for a fair deal for local people. I look forward to working with the newly elected councillors from all parties and with the new administration at County Hall to continue to campaign to make sure that North Cornwall gets a fair deal from both the Government and from Cornwall Council.

One of the biggest issues I hear from people on doorsteps or in my e-mail inbox is the cost of fuel. Whilst the Government have frozen tax on petrol and diesel for 3 years, I would like the Government to go further. The Treasury has confirmed to me that they are looking at cutting prices further for rural parts of mainland Cornwall and the highlands of Scotland by extending the 5 pence-per-litre discount on fuel that is currently in operation on the Isles of Scilly. Making petrol and diesel cheaper will make it easier for people to be able to access job or educational opportunities further afield and so I am continuing to fight for to get this rural cut in prices extended to North Cornwall.

When it comes to railways, I am calling on the Government to maintain or improve direct Cornwall to London services when the Great Western rail franchise is renewed in 2 years time. I also want them to consider plans to build an Okehampton Parkway station next to the A30 to bring railway services much closer to the North and East of Cornwall and to boost for our local economy. I am also working with the Campaign for Better Transport to make sure we get the best deal possible from the government for subsidies for rural bus services, so that as many villages and parishes in North Cornwall as possible have access to a useful and reliable bus service.

Last month I also visited Sharp's Brewery in Rock to cut the ribbon at their new storage facility, and to hear more about their plans to continue to grow the business and provide job and training opportunities for local people. Over the past few years I have been working with Sharp's to campaign to get a fairer deal for the industry and so I am glad that our campaign to scrap the controversial 'beer duty escalator' - that saw tax on beer rise by 2 pence per pint above inflation every year - was scrapped by the Coalition Government in March's Budget. The British Beer and Pub Association estimates that pubs and breweries employ around 2,100 people in North Cornwall, providing around £23.8 million in wages for the area, so it is good news that the pattern of rising tax on beer has been halted, which should help keep pub-going affordable, help sustain local jobs and stop the closure of well loved community pubs.

To P or not to P

There are things that your Parish Council gets the blame for, sometimes quite rightly, but one recent issue most definitely cannot be blamed on the Parish Council. The decision by Cornwall County Council to close our two Public Toilets. Here are some facts.

During the last 18 months or so the County Council wrote to us on two or three occasions asking if we would like to take over the two Loos. Our latest reply in September last year said, as before, that we would take them on providing they gave us something which would generate income so that we could afford the running cost of around £29,000 per year. We suggested that CC could give us back the Car Park on New Road to run to which we have had no written response. At no time was there any suggestion that the CC were contemplating closure of the toilets.

On the 15th March this year we received a letter completely out of the blue informing us that the Roscarrock toilets would be closed from the 8th April and the New Road loos would remain open during the summer but only open at weekends between the 1st November and the 31st March. Your Council immediately arranged a meeting with Cornwall Council to discuss the matter.

The result was that additional funding was secured from Visit Cornwall, due to our role as a tourist destination, to keep the toilets open until the 15th May. This enabled us to have further discussions during which it was made absolutely clear by Cornwall Council that the loos would close unless we were able to take the burden of running and paying for the toilets away from them. Your Council then decided that it would be the lesser of two evils if the Roscarrock toilets remained open and the New Road ones closed to be replaced by temporary Portalooos until a permanent solution can be found and this was agreed by CC. Your Council is still working on various possibilities, now that we have bought ourselves some time until the end of October half term, in order to find a permanent solution.

We regret that there may be some inconvenience especially to local businesses at the top of the village by tourists who want to spend a penny. Lets hope they can be persuaded to spend a lot more.

Mike Coles
Chairman, St Endellion Parish Council

and with toilets in mind ...

Once a young lady came to Port, and suddenly she was taken short,
Now Port Isaac has no bush or tree, so hastily she made for the sea.
Finding cliffs to hide from view, she was suddenly spotted by Winnie the Pooh,
Not really knowing what to do, midst laughter and whistles from the crew,
Up the beach she did proceed, wishing that she had not weed.
With face red and head hung low, out of Port Isaac she did go.
And the moral of this story is you see, never be far from a WC!

Websites of the Month

The Countryside on the Web

As the weather has finally improved (a bit) I thought I would look at what the web has to offer in advice on how to be in the countryside as, for example, a walker or visitor.

The place I started with was Natural England, which hosts the Countryside Code which was started as the County Code in the 1950s and has been updated in 2012 as the Countryside Code ( <http://tinyurl.com/7wnaj92> ). I thought it would apply to just to visitors, but as it says on the website it has a much wider scope:

"The Code, which applies in England and Wales, makes it clear what the responsibilities are for both the public and the people who manage the land."

So here we have, in a summary form, what all our responsibilities are to make our use of the countryside enjoyable, useful and productive.

The Code is divided into four sections:

- Respect other people
  - o Consider the local community and other people enjoying the outdoors
  - o Leave gates and property as you find them and follow paths unless wider access is available
- Protect the natural environment
  - o Leave no trace of your visit and take your litter home
  - o Keep dogs under effective control
- Enjoy the outdoors
  - o Plan ahead and be prepared
  - o Follow advice and local signs
- Code for land managers
  - o Know your rights, responsibilities and liabilities
  - o Make it easy for visitors to act responsibly
  - o Identify possible threats to visitor safety

Each of these standards has some detailed text describing in some detail who is responsible for what which I found quite enlightening. You can also download a hard copy to print. There is also quite a lot of detailed information about access rights for which Natural England has the overarching statutory responsibility. One thing I noticed was the Paths for Communities Scheme which was launched a year ago and had £2 million allocated to improve footpaths. It has published its first newsletter which you can download <http://tinyurl.com/nsaxaj6> . As far as I can tell Port Isaac hasn't used any of this grant, but I am sure Robin Penna would have supported it being taken up. His book of our footpaths is still very good value and available from Secrets <http://www.secretsportisaac.com> in Port Isaac and has good advice on getting the most from our local footpaths.

For walkers a website which you can join up is www.walkingworld.com . The subscription costs £18 per year and this entitles you to unlimited access to all their walks on the website. You can try out some samples without paying. The walks are searchable by distance from where you are, how long and how difficult, and the walk type – say you want a walk with a lot of wildlife. The walks have good directions and also photographs to help guide you and I have found it to be a really useful source of ideas. If you go on a walk and take photos, you can add them to the website as well.

PORT ISAAC MUSIC FESTIVAL

I am sitting here reflecting on the Port Isaac Music Festival 2013 and wondering how I am going to sum it up without writing a book! There are times in the preparation for these festivals when you think 'we are never going to get this thing together' but this time the line up was set really well - the main problem we had was fitting it all in. Musicians were contacting us wanting to be a part of the festivities - a great position to be in. So we had very full daytime programmes and on two nights we squeezed three acts in. We were also able to put on more performances in St Peter's Church - a big thank you to St Peter's for this.

Madame Galina and Councillor Penny attempt a pas de deux (I think!)

So, to all of those who played, sang and entertained, we thank you so much. I think this year I can safely say the standard was the best we have ever had and the variety was very diverse. Our top rate daytime programme included performances from old favourites and great friends of the Festival, Luke Deakin, Paul Johnson, James Corachea, Gulls Allowed, Liz Rowe and The Devil's Hat Band, along with returners Just Jazz Guitars, and Tim Carter plus new arrivals Bradders, Spot the Dog, Gaz & Laurie and the amazing Sea Change. And this year was a real showcase for new young talent with debut performances from Tom Penny & friends Daryl Old and Dan Lanyon and Llama Kharma - remember you saw them here first!

The Festival workshops

St Peter's hosted Take Note, In Vino Veritas, the VoiceWorks Community Choir, Roscarrock Revival Gospel Choir and the Port Isaac Chorale - everyone was blown away by the very high standard of performances.

We introduced two new ideas. The first was a trad jazz ensemble The Jumping out Strolling Acoustic Jazz Band, who strolled for a while around the village but ended up entertaining in the Hall after getting soaked on what was the worst day to be outside. Our second new venture was our very successful musical workshops - one hosted by Kantu Ensemble and the second, a more anarchic session hosted by the festival organisers - and yes, it was loud, and it was fun!

This year's Festival was a showcase for our local young talent - above are Llama Kharma featuring Fin Crawford, Mabel McCormick and Isaac Rowlands

PORT ISAAC MUSIC FESTIVAL

So onto the evening sessions. For the first time we had all four evenings in the Village Hall and we wondered if we would be able to get enough people to come through the doors for all four nights. The way we approached it was for going with a mix of new ideas and artists combined with some old friends of Port Isaac Music Festival. The first night was boosted by the fact that a select group had seen 'Madame' before and waxed lyrical about her which generated interest. Madame Galina was a sight to behold and an experience one will never forget and that game of musical chairs brought out inner basic animal instincts that I for one thought had been cultured out of us through modern living long ago. Smooth and mellow is the only way to describe the accompanying jazz act - the Johanna Graham quartet. What a fantastic night to start the weekend off.

Saturday evening brought a return to the festival of The Angels' Share, not only a great group of skilled musicians playing their own blend of Celtic Folk Rock but also a very important element in boosting the bar profits! They play well and play hard, finishing off a great evening that began with another group of friends of the festival, The Grenaways with their blend of mellow and upbeat folk with a very modern drive to it. Completing the line-up were newcomers to us, The Man Who Loves You, described as a folk/country/indie band - I don't think that even that does the band justice, a very modern and 'today' sound, they continued the high standard of the night.

I was beginning to wonder if we had peaked with Saturday night's gig - but we hadn't. Lee Chantler a singer songwriter and 'new' resident of Port Isaac began the evening with his lovely blend of traditional and new folk music. I knew we were alright. Also new to our festival were Island Cassettes bringing new world, African beat music to Port Isaac - it was a great success. Many had not heard this genre of music before but I think they might want to hear more. On to our final band of the night and I can't use the term, old friends when talking about Flats & Sharps - they still look as though they should bring their ID with them to be served at the bar! However they are returners to the Festival, bringing back their amazing prowess at playing bluegrass at speeds that no mere mortal should attempt. Feet were tapping and hearts were melting, all over again. What another great night.

And all too soon it was our Monday night finale and what can I say. Firstly I should not have worn that suit! Why? you ask - the answer is that Cornwall's sharp and amazingly funny Johnny Cowling, was taking us by storm again, and picking out anyone to have some 'banter' with (at least I didn't go to the toilet!). Johnny gave us a great evening of laughter and music and invited Port Isaac's very own 'Elvis' Francis on stage to sing a number with him. And while Johnny took a breath ready for his second half, Annie Appleby, dare I say Festival veteran, this being the third she has sung at, entranced the audience. Annie had already brought modern songs sung to an acoustic guitar in the afternoon session, but now she sang songs from the musicals, her beautiful voice filling the Hall. We, as the Festival organising group, are proud to be supporting the 'Chris Treglown Foundation' this year and we felt the spirit of Chris in the hall that night.

I hate trying to remember all the people I should thank for making the Festival a success. The organising group doubled this year to four, and that was a good decision, thanks to you all. The Village Hall committee, always supporters of the Festival, came up trumps - thank you for all your efforts and support and to everyone who helped with cakes, raffle prizes, ticket sales, decorating the Hall, cleaning up the mess, putting up posters, and all other jobs which are easily forgotten, many thanks.

Well I have written a book, and I hope I have done the Festival justice. Now is the time to catch up on a bit of sleep and remember the events of this wonderful weekend.

Climate Friendly St Endellion

As I write the RHS Chelsea Flower Show is in full swing up-country, with nightly coverage on television, and we have had a (brief) warm and sunny spell, so Spring has, perhaps, finally arrived. One more than usually interesting person interviewed by Alan Titchmarsh at the Show was the man who, surprisingly long ago, pioneered the production and sale of Wild Flower Seeds. Nowadays many of the Show Gardens have one or more beds planted up with hedgerow and meadow plants, carefully chosen to give a varied and natural appearance, and this re-creation of nature within a cultivated context is so common it is scarcely worth comment. He was clearly proud of having started this way of working.

Another idea whose time has apparently come is that of only using, if at all possible, plants native to the British Isles which, of course, raises the question of how you define 'native'. One definition is 'plants that were here when Britain was separated from Europe during the last Ice Age'. Taking things a bit further would involve us in North Cornwall using only plants that enjoy salt-spray, and that survive with not too much — but very strong, sun! I suppose variety in gardens comes from introduction of plants that wouldn't, normally, be there at all. However, concern for climate change should make us wary of too many wide-spread introductions, from too far away, at the cost of too much CO<sub>2</sub>; even so, as a non-native of Cornwall, I'll not press the point!

Not long ago, on television, we watched 'The Masters' Tournament', the annual golfing spectacular from the USA. One of the attractions is seeing the beautiful surroundings in which the holes are played, the flowing green of the fairways and the glint of sun on the almost unavoidable water. There is, however, the odd sensation that it's all quite artificial, that this is a partial copy of the grass-covered, sandy coastal dunes of North East Scotland, where the game originated, surrounded by tall trees which could not have been present in the original. How much effort, how much carbon dioxide is expended, in creating this playground for seekers of a green blazer!

Another topical concern, voiced in national media, is that many species of native wildlife are in serious decline, in some cases possibly even terminal decline. Declines of 30% in quite a short period are quoted. We are so fortunate in having a good variety of birds and small mammals in this area, that even the occasional mole-run across a corner of the lawn, or badger 'toilet' on the edge of a flower-bed, is excusable!

Traffic & Transport

Congratulations to all members of the new Parish Council on their election, commiserations to those who were unlucky in the ballot, and thanks to those who have served the community well over the last few years. We must hold the Members to the promises they made in their election statements, especially with regard to the environment, but we also have a responsibility: to keep them informed of our views and concerns, and support them in their work. We are certainly aware now (from early morning until tea-time, six days a week!) of the work the old Council did to get work started on the new Car Park, to replace parking on the beach in the Harbour, and give us a largely traffic-free bottom of the village.

It is to be hoped that the new Car Park which, although incomplete, should be ready for use by early July, will not be used only by those in search of Doc Martin. It is close to the bus-stop near the School, and linked to it by a path inside the hedge, away from the main road and all its traffic. From 25th May until 31st August there will be more buses, admittedly not a regular two-hourly service, but double the number we've had since December, and it will be possible to use the buses to go to Tintagel or Polzeath, for example, and walk back along the Coast (but not for the faint-hearted!).

When we get the rest of the footpath paralleling the B3287, from the new Car Park to Trewetha, the Car Park will be directly linked to our inland footpath network, which will open up many more interesting possibilities for walkers, whether resident or visitor. Next month we'll re-visit one of the classic circuits, bringing our description up-to-date.

BOWLING CLUB

Forty-five persons turned up for Camelford & District Bowling Club's Open Day on Saturday last (20th April). Of the assembled populace at least fifteen were people from the surrounding area showing interest in the game of bowls.

Two of the club's coaches, Geoffrey Risdon and Neill Wright were in attendance to profer their expertise, guidance and encouragement, and it was felt that four or five might become full-time members. The incentive of a £30 membership fee for the first year of outdoor bowling could prove to be beneficial.

The two coaches held their own 'workshops' on two of the rinks and the remaining members enjoyed a roll-up on the other rinks. A cup of tea and biscuits at half-time in the clubhouse, helped to cement old and make new acquaintances, before another short session of bowling ensued.

If there is anyone, who couldn't make the Open Day, but is still interested in joining, a couple of contact numbers are 01840 213801 or 01840 212483 will give you more information.

FINAL TABLE - 2012/13 SEASON

cooking with martin

This recipe sums up for me what cooking is all about, taking simple ingredients, cooking them well and then bring them together to make a harmonious dish that sums up spring.

Pan fried Pollock, Asparagus, Hollandaise and Cornish earlies

For some reason, Hollandaise Sauce makes normally competent cooks tremble with fear. You only have to watch Masterchef to see Greg and John banging on about how difficult it is to get right. But follow this easy recipe and you will wonder what all the fuss is about.

Reduction

25 ml white wine vinegar
25 ml lemon juice
½ onion diced
2 sprigs Tarragon

Bring all ingredients to boil reduce by half. Keep warm.

Hollandaise Sauce

3 egg yolks
250g butter
salt and pepper

Melt the butter over a gentle heat, being very careful not to let it brown.

Placing the egg yolks in a food processor and blend them thoroughly for about 1 minute.

Keeping the blender running add the reduction and then pour in the butter in a thin, slow, steady trickle; the slower you add it the better. (If it helps you to use a jug and not pour from the saucepan) taste and season.

You can keep the sauce warm in a Thermos flask until you are ready to serve.

Pollock

Pollock is a substantial alternative to Cod although it is more delicate than Cod so this is why I salt it first. This not only imparts some flavour to the fish, hence the curry powder, but also draws some water out of the flesh which helps hold it together whilst it cooks.

4 x 180/200g Pollock fillets, about 3cm thick, skin on, bones removed 100g course sea salt and 2 tsp mild curry powder mixed together

Lay the Pollock skin side down on a tray sprinkle the salt over the fish, leave for 20 mins, then wash off the salt and pat the Pollock fillets dry using kitchen paper.

Fry in a frying pan over a medium heat. When the butter is foaming and starting to brown, add the Pollock fillets, skin-sides facing down, and fry for 4-5 minutes, or until two thirds of each fish fillet has turned opaque. Using a fish slice, carefully turn each Pollock fillet over and continue to cook for a further 2-3 minutes, set the fish fillets aside on a warm plate to rest.

Asparagus

Snap off the bottom of the stalks and lightly peel the bottom third of the stem. Drop loose spears into a pan of boiling salted water and cook until just tender. The cooking time varies according to the thickness of the stems, but ranges between 2-5 minutes.

Cornish Earlies

Cornish earlies are not washed (unlike Jersey Royals) as they do not keep once washed. So wash well, place in cold salted water and bring to the boil, then simmer until cooked, drain and toss in butter season with salt and pepper.

Please give this recipe a try both asparagus and Cornish earlies have a short season,

Enjoy. Mx
