Missing ginger tom Twiglet

Our beloved cat Twiggy has been missing since Sat Jan 4th 2014.

We moved from Tintagel Terrace down to Port Gaverne and Twiggy went missing from there.

He is 13, ginger apart from a white bit under his chin and he only has 3 fangs.

Please check sheds, garages, holiday homes, barns etc.

We miss him so much so are willing to give a reward for his return.

Please contact Sue or Jim on 01208 881165 or 07852344546 or email info@stowawaysportisaac.co.uk

Oscar

I have been missing for over 2 years now, although I have been spotted on numerous occasions. My family have never given up and are still searching for me. Please help me find my way back home to them. I have 3 distinctive beauty spots along the left hand side of my muzzle.

Please join my page 'Oscar is missing'

Gig Club news

Firstly we would like to wish everybody a happy new year and thank everybody who took part in the village advent calendar. An amazing effort was made, making the village even more special (if possible).

On the 29th December we did our annual gig push. Before we got going, we handed over a cheque for £1000 to the Riding for the Disabled Association (our 2013 charity).

Our chosen charity for 2014 is the Merlin MS Centre, and our gig push kicked off the fundraising nicely. Thank you to everybody who took part or donated. Apologies to Nicki B for nearly widening her doorway!! oops!!

Finally, could we thank The Edge for providing such a good venue and top notch food for our end of season meal - it was delicious!

Roy leaves our Co-op

After ten years at Port Isaac Co-op I have decided to semi-retire. I will be working part-time in Camelford.

I have enjoyed my time working in the Port Isaac Co-op and would like to thank the customers and friends for their support over the years.

I left on January 4th and by the time you read this the new Manager will have taken over. I wish her good luck and hope she enjoys it as much as I have.

I would also like to thank all the staff for their support.

Outdoors with the National Trust

National Trust

This has to be my favourite time of year; I am sat with the door open and a crisp breeze is flowing past with the morning sun. The changing seasons show us the many different moods of our fantastic coastline and there is nothing better than being out and about on a bracing day!

As ever the National Trust had a busy summer and autumn in the area keeping back the ever growing vegetation along the coast path, carrying out footpath maintenance and repairing Cornish hedging. We have also been monitoring butterfly numbers down at Lundy Bay, and I'm sure as many of you will have noticed, it was a great year for butterflies in the area with high numbers and species variety. We carried out the end of year cut on our meadows at Lundy Bay to provide open grassland for plenty of flowering plants again next year for the butterflies and the many other species that thrive there such as slow worms and adders. We have also been chipping away at the gorse and scrub that takes over our grassland at sites including Epphaven, Lundy Bay and Pentire Head.

We hosted some brilliant events over the summer including our Bat talk and BBQ. Here people learn about and then go and see greater horseshoe bats emerging from the cliffs near the Lead Mines car park, with a burger or two in between! We will be running this event again in August. We have also built a fantastic bug hotel, gone rockpooling, helped keep our beaches clean and cleared scrubland with a hot spud as reward! And all that's just in the Port Quin to Polzeath area!

The recent high tides along with the strong winds brought the waves crashing over the roads at Port Quin and Port Gaverne. Fortunately we haven't suffered too much damage in these areas. Over the next couple of months we will be making any necessary repairs.

As we continue through winter we will be keeping up our work to control scrub and restore areas of heathland and maritime grassland rich in wildflowers, biodiversity and traditional to the area. If you want to get outdoors, meet some new people and help look after the countryside in your area check these events out:

Saturday 1 February

Scrub'n'Spuds at Willapark, Tintagel

Join us in our efforts to clear gorse and blackthorn to promote the maritime grassland on this lovely headland with stunning views. To reward your efforts we'll cook up a jacket potato lunch on the bonfire. 10am – 4pm. Phone or email for further details.

Wednesday 19 February

Scrub'n'Spuds at Porth Mear valley, near Bedruthan Steps

Join us in our efforts to clear gorse and blackthorn on the valley side to promote greater biodiversity in this valuable coastal habitat. To reward your efforts we'll cook up a jacket potato lunch on the bonfire. 10am – 4pm. Phone or email for further details.

Saturday 1 March

Scrub'n'Spuds at Vugga Cove, West Pentire

Join us in our efforts to clear gorse and blackthorn to restore maritime grassland and promote greater biodiversity with views across Crantock beach. To reward your efforts we'll cook up a jacket potato lunch on the bonfire. 10am – 4pm. Phone or email for further details.

Wednesday 19 March

Scrub'n'Spuds at Lundy Bay

Join us in our annual efforts to clear gorse and blackthorn to promote greater biodiversity in our valuable coastal habitats at Lundy Bay. To reward your efforts we'll cook up a jacket potato lunch on the bonfire. 10am – 4pm. Phone or email for further details.

Bob Bulgin BEM

Bob is made a Medallist of the British Empire in the Queen's New Year Honours

When an official looking brown envelope dropped through the letterbox at Jessamine Cottage, Bob put it to one side - he thought it was a speeding fine! How wrong he was! When he did get round to opening it a couple of days later he couldn't believe what he was reading! He was going to be given the BEM for his inspirational contribution to charity.

We all know about Bob's involvement and love for the RNLI. He's been on the Port Isaac RNLI committee for the past 16 years and for the last seven has served as Chairman and Branch Press Officer, liaising with the local media following rescues and constantly working at raising the profile of this charity that he holds so dear. He is always looking for ways to raise money for the RNLI and has overseen Port Isaac become a hugely successful fundraising branch.

His work has not gone unnoticed. Said Tom Mansell, RNLI Divisional Operations Manager, "Bob is an extremely valuable member of the RNLI team at Port Isaac; he is a pivotal member of the team at the lifeboat station, wearing two hats as Lifeboat Press Officer and Chairman. He provides wisdom, support, humour and advice in appropriate measure and I know he is appreciated by everyone around him. People like Bob are the lifeblood of our charity and I and the regional staff are all delighted to see him honoured in this way."

Bob also supports a number of other local organisations including the Port Isaac Rowing Club, the Frank McNichol Art Trust, the British Divers Marine Life Rescue Southwest and PISCES.

Paul Boissier, the RNLI's Chief Executive said: "This is a man that genuinely cares about people. He has an authentic passion for the lifeboat and its place in the community, and he has given up a great deal of time for charity work."

Trio caught up with Bob to congratulate him and talk about his award and he was very quick to point out that his achievements would not have been possible without the teamwork of the crew and committee behind him. "I have always considered the strength of the RNLI comes through close team effort, both operational on the water and in support", he explained. "I certainly consider this BEM award as an endorsement of this view - without the dedication and hard work of our excellent Committee and Crew there would be no such award."

When asked to comment on his award, Bob said, "The marine environment has always played a big part in my life. Back in 1963 I was founder of the British Sub Aqua Club 365. I was also one of the founders of the East London Traditional Buccaneer Rowing Club aimed at introducing inner city children to fixed seat rowing on the River Thames and this ultimately led to my involvement with West Country gig rowing and the British Divers Marine Life Rescue in the South West. Through these activities and my home in Port Isaac with its long historic connection to the lifeboat service I have had the pleasure of forming firm and long standing friendships with volunteer crewmen and a lasting admiration for the high standard of service provided by the RNLI. It was therefore a natural step when retiring from full-time business commitments to take a more active role in support of this Institution."

NCB Radio, your local community radio station, seeks new presenters, bands and artists

NCB Radio is a community radio station broadcasting 24 hours a day at www.ncbradio.co.uk. The station seeks people who would like to present programs and also bands and artists who would like to perform live on air, or to be recorded for broadcast later.

The station broadcasts a wide variety of music and seeks presenters with interests in all music genres, and in particular people who have time to broadcast a show during the day. Currently the station does not have a folk or blues presenter and would be pleased to receive applications from anybody who would like to have a go. Full training is provided and it is really not very difficult! Most shows are broadcast weekly, but anybody who would like to have a go, say monthly would be more than welcome. The station studios are in Bodmin and in the same building is housed a state of the art recording studio. From this studio, bands and solo artists can perform live on air, or be recorded for broadcast for later. The station broadcasts worldwide and so this is a great opportunity for aspiring artists to gain exposure. The station also has links with international organisations who give promotion to unsigned artists and also with record companies who are interested in acquiring new talent.

If you would like to get involved either as a presenter or as an artist then please contact Jenny Hill on jenny@ncbradio.co.uk or 01208 72328. If neither of those things interest you, please tune in and support your local station. You can listen in any of the following ways:-

Go to www.ncbradio.co.uk and click listen live, or you can listen via iTunes or by downloading TuneIn Radio to your smartphone or tablet.

I used to cycle to school through Roy Grove, a cluster of early-1950s houses on the Hanworth side of Hampton, Middlesex. Together with nearby Cannon Close, this commemorates the surveyor, and the marker of one end of Major-General Roy's 'base-line'. From this carefully-measured five-mile line across then-desolate Hounslow Heath, in 1784 Roy laid out the very first triangle in a trigonometric survey linking observatories in Greenwich and Paris. Soon after, that triangle was linked to others which eventually covered the whole of this country too. Those triangles form the skeleton of all our Ordnance Survey maps, and their corners, the "trig points", often on top of hills, marked by the familiar concrete pillars.

The Ordnance Survey initially produced maps of Southern England to facilitate defence against invasion by Napoleonic France. There had already been a rough military survey of Scotland in the period after the Jacobite Risings of the early 1700s, but full trigonometric survey only reached Shetland, the far North of Britain, in 1820. Sheets of the First Series were too expensive, and too sensitive from the point of view of national security, to be widely available. The last First Series sheet of England & Wales, on a scale of one inch to one mile, was published in 1870, and of the Isle of Man three years later. Eventually, in the 1930s, the Sixth Series or "Popular" one-inch map became cheap enough to be carried by, for example, the ramblers establishing their rights of access to mountain country by the Mass Trespasses in the Peak District.

Today the "Landranger" maps, with the purple cover, are to a slightly larger scale, a 'metric' 2 cm to 1 km (about 1¼ inches to 1 mile) or 1:50,000 instead of the traditional 1:63,360 or 1 inch to 1 mile. Sheet 200 "Newquay & Bodmin" covers our Parish, and is excellent for driving or cycling, but the "Explorer" maps, with an orange cover, are better for walking. On a larger scale, 1:25,000 and always known as "2½-inch maps", they show field-boundaries and other essentials in great detail. Our Parish is almost all on Sheet 106 "Newquay & Padstow", with a tiny eastern extremity on Sheet 109 "Bodmin Moor". The footpaths are as recorded on the County Council's 'Definitive Footpath Map', drawn up in the 1950s. Since the recorders at that time were not experienced with maps, depictions of footpaths are, unfortunately, occasionally inaccurate.

The 2½-inch maps distinguish Public Rights of Way, by different symbols in green, as Footpaths, Bridleways, Byways open to all traffic, and Restricted Byways, with extra symbols to indicate a National Trail or a Long Distance Route like the South West Coast Path (or the Camel Trail). Symbols in red show some "Permitted Footpaths" and "Permitted Bridleways" where permission may be withdrawn (it's always wise to check on the ground whether a path is still open, waymarks like small signposts should show the current status), and "Traffic-free cycle routes", like the Camel Trail.

Maps and plans published using material from the Ordnance Survey have to acknowledge that fact, and those we see issued by Cornwall Council in connection with, e.g. Planning and Highways (including footpaths and road-closures), do so. Publications like the late Robin Penna's Footpath Map and "15 Walks" booklet, still obtainable locally, carry so much more local information, gleaned in situ, that they often do not. Be aware that the landscape changes with time, and field boundaries may disappear. The path that cuts across a field, from the road beyond Homer Park and Lower Trefreock Turn towards St Endellion, now has a decided kink in it on the map, where it used to have to cross a boundary. Now the boundary has gone, perhaps the path should go straight across the, now much larger, field.

Ordnance Survey maps have been called "Maps of freedom", as they, together with the Countryside and Rights of Way (Right to Roam) Act of 2000 (for England & Wales) and Scotland's Land Reform Act of 2003, give us the information we need to exercise our legs in a healthy way, and know where we are going. If the rain keeps us indoors, we can at least re-live last summer's walks by looking at an OS (or Robin's) map, and rejoice that they are so widely available.

Happy walking, when the weather's right!

Robert Manders

What do we do in the winter?

Hatch up lots of plans, judging by the number of activities that blossom all around Port Isaac throughout the rest of the year!

Come and have a look at the new PISCES exhibition of 'A year (and a half) in the life of Port Isaac.' These photographs show a lively, thriving and energetic community with lots going on. PISCES likes to make a record of life as it is now, as well as recording the past.

Port Isaac School will be adding to the display with one of their own display - "A Day in the Life of a Port Isaac Child". We are hoping to add contrast to this by asking you for your childhood memories of getting up in the morning and going off to school? What was your day like? If you feel inspired to drop us a line, whatever your age or wherever you went to school, and let us know what your day was like as a young child growing up, we will be pleased to include it in our exhibition. You can email it, dee54@mac.com or post it or drop it in to Dee at Secrets. Your memories mean a lot to us!

Want to be part of PISCES?

Come for tea and find out what we are planning for 2014

Instead of a committee meeting in February we are having an afternoon tea at Cheryl's (10 Tintagel Terrace) on Wednesday February 12th at 3pm to chat about our future plans. Why not come and join us? Everybody is

PARKING ON THE BEACH

Since the Harbour Commissioners closed the beach for public parking a few years ago, a limited number of Season Tickets have been available for purchase. The price last year was £180.00 and will remain the same for this year. Anybody who wants a permit needs to contact the Clerk, Mrs Sandra Blewett at 8 Fore Street Camelford Cornwall PL32 9PG Email: sb@sproulllp.co.uk Tel: 01840 212315 for an Application Form. The Form asks for confirmation that the person applying does not have any unpaid parking tickets that may have been issued by AS Parking.

There are still a number of people who do not want to pay less than 50p a day to park on the beach because they think that the Harbour Commissioners do not have power to control parking.

For anybody who doubts the Harbour Commissioners' powers over the beach they should refer to the Port Isaac Harbour Order of 1926 which was amended by the Port Isaac Harbour (Amendment) Order 1932. These Statutory Orders were made by Parliament under the auspices of the General Pier and Harbour Acts 1861 to 1915 and were necessary because they established the Harbour Commissioners as a statutory body and gave them authority to build the breakwaters. Many of you will know that the Western Breakwater was not built where originally planned because of the bankruptcy of the original contractor, hence the need for the 1932 amendment which provided for the Western Breakwater to be built where it now is.

These Statutory Orders give the Harbour Commissioners power to regulate what goes on within the area of the harbour defined in the Order and the Commissioners have subcontracted their authority to AS Parking.

It is a shame that there are a few people who refuse to accept the Commissioners' authority and regard it as their right to park where they please without payment. The feeling in the village is that the stopping of general parking on the beach has been hugely beneficial to the village. If that is to continue then there has to be some control over who parks where. The only alternative is for all parking to be completely stopped by means of a barrier. AS Parking are taking a test case to Court to prove to the doubters that the Commissioners do have the necessary powers.

All the Harbour Commissioners work voluntarily and are only trying to do what they think is best for the Harbour and village. Less than 50p a day is probably the cheapest parking in the country.

Port Isaac Harbour Commissioners

CHRISTMAS PIGS HOLYWELL COURSE ST ENODOC

December 17th - the one day in December that was dry and sunny - brought 23 golfers to St Enodoc Golf Club for our annual Christmas Golf Day. Coffee and bacon rolls got the proceedings off to a good start as handicaps were made up, ridiculed, then written down, four balls formed and the micky taking started. The first prize of the day was presented before the start of play as the winner was given the Christmas jumper which was to be worn all day and night or else pay a forfeit. This was won by John Monk who did wear the Christmas pudding festooned garment all day long and showed no shame at all!

Mr Steve Bunt took on the responsibilities of handicap master after the late withdrawal of Mr Geoff Harris after a freak accident with a bottle of Merlot and a can opener. With no official paperwork, handicaps were, how can I say this, 'liberally' given out.

After a good day's golf we retired back to the comfort of the Clubhouse to reminisce on the days events and scores, with 36 being the top score until Mr Monk arrived with a score of 43 - much to his embarrassment as he had been given the wrong handicap. After discussions this was amended and the Stableford winner was Pat McGrath, second was Mark Grills and third John Monk.

The dinner and drinks after party was held at The Edge and more prizes were handed out but I was too drunk to remember to whom or for what!

Our next match is at Okehampton, a new venue for the PIGS, on March 3rd.

To all my dear friends:

Thank you all for your Christmas Greetings.
I think of you fondly and of Port Isaac.
May I wish you all a Happy and Healthy New Year

Kosovo Lunch

Cheryl, Barbara, Lisa and Liz would like to thank everyone who supported the fundraising lunch and helped raise an amazing £400.

A huge thank you to the lovely waitresses, Kat and Charlotte and to the best custard maker Jill. Also, thank you to Kim for keeping Rowan asleep!

The money raised is going towards the purchase of a plot of land in Fushe Kosove on which an American charity, Mercy Corps, will build a home for Hatemja and Agron who have been living in just one room, a few metres squared, in dire and dangerous conditions.

Thank you everyone.

"Believed to be a blue shark, Mr John L Brown of Port Isaac, master and owner of the boat 'Kate', caught on Friday a monster, eight-feet long and six-feet around, weighing about six cwt. Mr Brown was accompanied by Capt Isaac Remick and Mr Fred Hoskin as his crew."

VALENTINE'S DAY FACTS

Valentine's Day in England began in 1537 when King Henry VII officially declared February 14 the holiday of St Valentine

In the Italian city of Verona where Shakespeare's lovers Romeo and Juliet lived, about 1000 letters are received every Valentine's Day addressed to Juliet!

Remembering Joyce Hambly

Joyce was born in Middle Street, Port Isaac on November 18th 1934. Daughter of Frank & Alice Masters and younger sister to Thursa and Joan, they all attended Port Isaac school, now known as the 'Old School Hotel' in the lower part of the village.

Although she was never keen on the water, Joyce pestered Joan relentlessly to give her swimming lessons. Annoying as her younger sister was, Joan eventually gave in by taking her out towards the breakwaters, out of her depth, hand under her chin and letting her go, where she rapidly sank! When she did finally surface Joan told her to "swim in", which she did. Apparently "that's the way the way it's done round here", according to Joan.

With their playground being the beach and the ever watchful fisherman with encouraging words such as "get off that bleddy boat", childhood days in Port Isaac were about as good as it could get and Joyce soon joined the local amateur dramatics group, enjoying performing pantomime in the Temperance Hall.

Joyce's first job on leaving school was with Dr & Mrs Sproull at the Rock. This is where she learnt to be a wonderful cook, becoming famous for her great pasties and especially her yeast buns.

Dugald Sproull provided this anecdote. "When Joyce left school, she went to work for Dr & Mrs Sproull at The Rock, and where the surgery used to be. She had happy times there and remained very friendly with the Doctor and his wife for the rest of their lives. When she started working there, Dugald Sproull was six or seven years old and like most boys who went to the Old School in those days, wore hobnail boots. One day Joyce and he had a fall out about something and Dugald lost his temper and kicked her in the shins with his hobnail boots. Mrs Sproull was very angry about this and sent him to bed, when he refused to say sorry. He was as awkward then as he is now. Eventually the best his mother could do was to get Dugald to write sorry on a piece of paper and hand it over to Joyce. Over the years they often had a laugh about this."

Working around the village at the Castle Rock and Port Gaverne hotels gave Joyce the experience to later manage the Cornish Cafe for Peter Rowe, a job she particularly enjoyed.

Going to the local dances at the Rivoli, now the Peapod, was one of Joyce's passions in life. It was there that, 62 years ago aged 17, she met Don. They went on to marry in St Peter's Church in 1956.

They started their married life in Morgan Porth, Don's home town, where they lived for two years before moving back to Port Isaac. They lived in the prefabs at Mayfield, on the site of the new primary school, before moving into the new council house at number 17, where they started their family.

Alison was born four months later in 1966 and Donna followed in 1968. Their home became open house to all, especially as their friends became aware of Joyce's prowess as a wonderful cook. Every Sunday was pasty and yeast buns for tea, something Debbie Pattenden and Paul Honey were only to aware of and always made sure they were in the right place at the right time! Of course this was something Joyce thoroughly enjoyed - a house full of people.

Paul Honey recalls, "I'll always remember number 17 as my second home growing up. Many childhood memories, your mum telling me and Donna off for the umpteenth time and I very much enjoyed tea on a Sunday afternoon, listening to the top 40 and enjoying the delights of Joyce's cooking, especially her butterfly cakes."

In 1969 Joyce was one of the founder members of the Port Isaac Singers. Along with Ida Brown, her partner in song, the group used to practise in the Wesley Chapel on a Thursday evening. Ida only recently passed away herself, so no doubt they are now having a laugh and a song, remembering those good times, especially their overseas singing trip to France.

1986 saw the birth of Joyce's first grandchild, Katie, followed two years later by Cerin. It wasn't long till yeast buns and pasties were back on the menu. Reading nursery rhyme books would have been a full time occupation had it not been for Joyce's job working for social services as a carer along side her good friend Barbara Richards - another job she loved very much. Joyce retired due to ill health in 1997, but with her grandson Tom being born in 1999 her cooking skills were still in demand, this time Pasta Bake - no-one could make it like Nanny!

Sunday lunch was always a big event for Joyce. Even when Alison and I took on cooking the family meal, Joyce still had to provide the puddings - Pavlova, apple pie, trifle for Tom, flans and tarts. Sometime there would be one each!

It was on these Sundays that Joyce was introduced to modern technology. The after-dinner chat almost invariably turned to 'the good old days!' and Joyce's delight in finding old photos and facts about Port Isaac on the iPad, had her talking more than Joan! I learnt more about old Port Isaac on those Sundays than any amount of time sat in the pub!

Joyce's granddaughters were to focus very much in Joyce's last year. Katie married Ian and Cerin & Adam produced her first Great Grandchild, Tyler - two events she was immensely proud of. With Ian's cries of "Alright Joyce?" whenever they met and Tyler's infectious laugh, I do believe Joyce was enjoying life right up until her last days.

Don, Alison and family, which to thank everyone for all the support and kindness shown over the last few months.

The number of cards and offers of help were overwhelming.

Thank you all for understanding at this difficult time.

I send a big thankyou to everyone for all the cards I have received during this difficult time

Joan Murray

Dan Rogerson writes ...

Since I last wrote for the Trio, the big event in Westminster has been the Autumn Budget Statement in December. This Autumn Statement showed that Britain's economy is on its way back. The Coalition Government is sticking to the plan to make sure this is a recovery that is built to last, which is the only way to improve living standards.

There were announcements on help with the cost of living by freezing tax on petrol and diesel until 2015, and by cutting energy bills. New support will help more than 2.3 million households in the South West with the costs of their electricity bills, and is expected to reduce the average bill by around £50. This is on top of the £50 rebate on water bills that we are already delivering.

Price controls for Western Power Distribution – which supplies electricity to Cornwall - have also been fast-tracked by the energy regulator Ofgem, which means the company will be asked to cut their costs to help reduce energy prices. The price controls will cover part of bills that energy network companies are responsible for – around 20% of the average annual energy bill.

The Autumn Statement also took steps to help the high street and businesses by giving small retailers a £1,000 business rates rebate and by capping further increases in business rates. The government is improving the help and support for small and medium sized businesses, which are the backbone of the local economy in Cornwall, when it comes to access to finance to help them grow their businesses and employ more people.

Crucially, there was help for young people, as employer National Insurance Contributions for everyone under 21 was abolished, helping make it cheaper and easier for businesses to employ young people. There are also new plans to allow 16 and 17 year olds to use Job Centre Plus, lifting the cap on the number of students who can go to University, and providing resources for an extra 20,000 apprenticeships.

At the start of January I helped launch the Cornwall Apprenticeships campaign. Working with the Government, local businesses and the Cornwall Training Provider Network, the campaign aims to raise awareness about Apprenticeships with employers and young people and to create 300 new Cornish apprenticeships in 100 days.

Young people in Cornwall are keen to work hard and get out there to find opportunities that will lead to a better future. I often hear from business owners impressed by the dedication and drive of young people on their team. Anyone interested in becoming an apprentice should visit the Cornwall Apprenticeships website at www.cornwallapprenticeships.com which has details of the Apprenticeship frameworks available in Cornwall and current Apprenticeship jobs.

As growth returns to our economy, we see more people in work and businesses being successful, we need to sustain the economic recovery and make sure that the new economy that emerges is balanced, sustainable, and invests for the long term good of everyone, not just the select few. That's why Liberal Democrats in government have prioritised cutting income taxes by £700 a year for 25 million working people on low and middle incomes, to help working families with the cost of living. But now we want to go further – taking the total tax cut up to £800 a year. This is what I'll be fighting for in Coalition Government over the coming months.

These last few years have been tough, but people have been right to recognise that's there is no easy shortcut past the difficult decisions necessary to tackle our country's problems. Of course there is a lot more to do.

Friday March 7

2.30pm Women's world Day of Prayer Service St Endellion Church

Streams in the Desert

Once again on the first Friday in March, people across the world, including many in our local area, will come together to pray.

On Friday 7th March at 2pm, people from St Kew, St Kew Highway, Trelights, Rock, Port Isaac and St Endellion will take part in a world- wide day of prayer by sharing in a special service in St Endellion Church, and will welcome any others who wish to join them. The preacher will be Geraldine Ashton.

The day is a global and ecumenical movement of informed prayer and prayerful action by Christian women, where men, women and children take part on the day in a service written by a different country each year. The country this year is Egypt, which will then become the focus of the world's prayers on the day itself.

From the time that dawn breaks over the Island of Samoa until the last service in America, prayer will constantly be being offered.

The theme this year is 'Streams in the Desert' with its reminder of how precious water is in a hot, dry land, and of the promise Jesus gives of living water. The theme will be reflected in the Bible passages, hymns, prayers and sermon in the service.

Although still known in this country and Northern Ireland by its original title of 'Women's World Day of Prayer' it's certainly not limited to women, and is simply called World Day of Prayer in most countries. So, if you can, do come along - if you can't make it, simply offer up a prayer wherever you are.

The theme of the day will be the Problem of God - Poetry and Prayer and there will discussion, an opportunity to write in response to exercises and the reading of published poetry including Kathryn's own work. The day will run from 10am to 3pm with a bring and share lunch and will cost £15. Numbers are limited to 15 so book early with Judith Pollinger 01208880181 or rev.judith@btinternet.com

Also In February and March the Music Cornwall Guitar Ensemble will be using the facilities at St Endellion for tuition and rehearsal sessions. These young people will conclude by giving a short concert in the church on Sunday 23rd March in the afternoon.

Carmen and Mimi: Lessons in Love

A comedy told through action, speech and extraordinary music with an uplifting and unexpected ending. Carmen and Mimi are looking for love ... evening classes hold the answer. An exciting blend of music and story with sublime singing, engaging comedy performances, slick physical direction, a great story and a feel-good vibe.

The singing duo Simone Hellier (as Carmen) and Jenny Oldfield (as Mimi) are joined in the show by accomplished actor Ben Oldfield who is also the writer. Benjamin Symes (Cube Theatre) is producing the show.

PORT ISAAC RNLI TWIN WITH HATFIELD AND WELWYN GARDEN CITY RNLI BRANCH RESULTING IN A SHOPPER'S BOOST FOR OUR LIFEBOAT FUNDING

WELL DONE BOB

As an old friend and RNLI Committee member I would like to say a huge congratulations to Bob for being presented with the outstanding honour of the British Empire Medal in the New Year's Honours list.

From my personal perspective, no-one deserves this more than he does, although he is being remarkably modest about this accolade saying it is due to his great fundraising Committee and the active support given by the Crew.

Bob has been a member of the Committee for over sixteen years and Chairman for the past seven. In addition he holds the position of Press Officer to the Station. Throughout these years of service to Port Isaac RNLI he has not only helped to build a great team but also been instrumental in obtain serious funding for Port Isaac RNLI in his never-ending belief for such a necessary and worthy cause - and may I say, he makes it all such fun, even if hard work!!

Annie Price

Following a long friendship with the Vice Chairman of Hatfield and Welwyn Garden City RNLI, a mutual agreement has been reached to form what is to be regarded as a twinning arrangement between the branches. This friendly arrangement recognises the advantage of an Inland Branch forming a close relationship with a Branch/Station where there is active lifeboat operations. By establishing such an arrangement, Inland RNLI Members will have the opportunity of forming a close relationship with Committee and Crew members. By following actual rescue activities through historic links to Port Isaac lifeboat and RNLI operations in the West Country in general, they create a strong link to the support they are giving towards Rescuing Lives At Sea

The first effort in supporting this partnership was carried out by WGC RNLI following Christmas with a collection day taking place at the Hatfield branch of TESCO. Seen here is Vice Chairman Ian Gardner with one of their supporters, Wally Dangerfield. The end result of this fine effort has produced over £700 which is to be dedicated to the training cost of a new Port Isaac Crew Member*, a very practical and closely linked foundation to what hopefully will be a long standing relationship.

The Training Cost of a individual RNLI crew member is estimated to be in the region of £1,255 based on 2011 averages*

Port Isaac RNLI Supporters, Crew and Committee turned out in strength to cheer the Switch-on of Christmas lights at the home of Martin and Myra Langdon in memory of their close friend Peter Sleeman.

For the second year running, Martin & Myra Langdon created an even larger and more impressive extravaganza of Christmas Lights in memory of their close friend Peter Sleeman and in support of Port Isaac RNLI. This stunning display, featured at their home in Wadebridge, attracted an appreciative audience of all ages numbering well into the hundreds.

Supporters and crew of Port Isaac RNLI took part in the countdown to the switch-on by Senior Helmsman Damien Bolton and Chairman Bob Bulgin to activate 16,197 lights! At the time of going to Press we understand donations have been received exceeding well over £500

OPERATIONS REPORT

It has been a typically quiet January; the pagers haven't sounded yet which is good as the seas have been raging.

We have continued with the usual training both at sea and ashore. It is great to announce that Ian Johnson has now fully passed out as crew and is thundering along with his helm development programme.

We have also taken delivery of our new stretcher, the PS1, which is a real development and now means the boat is not filled up with equipment if we need to take a stretcher to sea.

Finally I would like to say personally and on behalf of the crew how very proud we are of Bob and the recent recognition he has been given in the form of the British Empire Medal. Bob it is well deserved and has been a long time coming. Congratulations.

Damien
Senior Helmsman/Training Officer

RNLI NEW YEAR AWARDS

With an active programme of RNLI events both within the village and to locations outside, there is a constant call on our Committee members to dedicate time and effort in order to generate essential funds in support of key operations and to ensure the supply of the very best of equipment towards the safety of our volunteer crew members.

It is therefore a great pleasure to congratulate two of our key Committee members on receiving New Year notification from RNLI Head Office of Bronze Badge awards in recognition of their personal efforts related to Port Isaac RNLI.

Chris Clifton has served on Committee since 2008 appointed Secretary in 2010

Cheryl Webster has served on Committee since 2008 handling retail sales and assisting the Box Secretary in village and area collections since 2009

The Bronze Badge with certificate can be awarded to members who have clearly demonstrated their commitment and reliability by taking on responsibilities as an honorary official and to have served on Committee for at least 5 years three of which must be in an official capacity.

Poetry

Year 5 and 6 have been looking at different types of poetry this term. They have read The Sad Poem by Michael Rosen and written A Happy Poem in the same style. Here is a selection of those poems ...

Happy is a place
That is high and bright
Like the sun shining
Through my window

Happy is a place
That is joyful and bright
Like the place
Where I go to play

When its high and bright
I want to go there

When its joyful and light
I want to enjoy myself

by Katie Y5

Happy is a place
That is full of sun
Like a carnival
Drifting away

Happy is a place
Where everyone is kind and peaceful
Like a hospital
Where doctors heal you

When it's full of fun
It passes too quickly
When it's kind and peaceful
I want to be thankful
by Will Y6

Happy is as beautiful
As a flickering fire
Happy is a place
Where the Amazon lies

Happy is as majestic as the Cimarron horse
Happy is like slaying a dragon

When I am happy I feel safe
When I am happy I drift off into the midnight skies
by Amelia Y6

Happy is a place
That is light and fluffy
Like a pillow
On my bed

Happy is a place
that is high and bright
Like the sky
Above my house

When it is light and fluffy
I always jump in

When it's high and bright in the sky
I want to be there
by Izak Y6

Happy is a place
That is warm and cosy
But still
Springing with life

Happy is a place
That is peaceful and
Glistening like the feeling of snow
About to fall

When it's dry and youthful
I just dare to go there!

When it's happy and joyful
I feel like fresh air

Welcome back dear readers,

Last year I had the idea that all my recipes would be about what is in season. However Gaia or climate change (your choice) put paid to that idea and turned all the seasons upside down. So this year I have decided to try and find some old English recipes. I was inspired to do this by Heston Blumenthal, who has a restaurant in London serving ye olde English recipes with modern twist. I fully intend to try this recipe (and others) out at the St Kew Inn, so come on over if you want to try them!

Alows de Mouton

Ask your butcher for thin lamb steaks (from the leg) and thin beef steaks (from the rump) cut roughly to the same size and shape.

8 Lamb Steaks (leg) thin cut

8 Beef Steaks (rump) thin cut

Large handful of chopped, fresh parsley

1 large onion, diced very small (or even minced)

4 hard boiled egg yolks (boil eggs, remove shell and the whites)

4 further hard boiled egg yolks (to garnish)

30g of beef suet - ask your butcher (or get the shredded kind)

salt and freshly ground black pepper to season

2g fresh ginger chopped very fine or grated

2g of ground ginger

2g of ground cinnamon

small pinch of saffron stems, soaked in a tablespoon of warm water, (when cool use the water as well)

40ml of red wine vinegar

10ml of cider vinegar

You will also need some small metal or wooden skewers to pin the steaks together

In a small bowl put the red wine vinegar, cider vinegar, the saffron and saffron water, ginger (fresh and ground) and cinnamon and season with salt and freshly ground black pepper. Mix it with a fork, then let it sit for an hour in the fridge. After an hour mix it once more then reserve two tablespoon of this thin medieval 'vinaigrette' (put it in a small ramekin back in the fridge).

Hard boil eight eggs until each egg is fully cooked, shell the eggs and remove the whites, keeping the hard yellow yolks.

To the main red wine 'vinaigrette' add the finely chopped onion and the finely chopped parsley (reserve some parsley for a garnish). Mix it all together with a fork, then crumble in four of the egg yolks. Give it a final mix. Later it should all break down even more as you rub it into the meat.

Trim any excess fat off and place the lamb and beef steaks between some cling film and using a rolling pin roll out the steaks thinly.

One at a time, on a flat oven tray, place the lamb and beef steaks. Rub in the softened beef suet all over (if using proper suet from your butcher shred it and soften in an oven or in a saucepan on a gentle heat). Then rub over some of the prepared 'vinaigrette'. Tightly roll each steak up, with the egg yolk, onion and parsley stuffing mix now inside.

Alows de Mouton

If you have ever been worried by the taste of Medieval foods and thought them inedible, then this recipe might just change your mind. In fact these steaks could even fit in with modern 'fusion foods' that are trendy today – blending the wonderful lamb and beef taste with ginger, cinnamon, and saffron spices.

"Two Fifteenth-Century Cookery Books" 1430

Alows de Beef or de Motoun: Take fayre Bef of þe quyschons, & motoun of þe bottes, & kytte in þe maner of Stekys; þan take raw Percely, & Oynonys smal y-scredde, & 3olkys of Eyroun soþe hard, & Marow or swette, & hew alle þes to-geder smal; þan caste þer-on poudere of Gyngere & Saffroun, & tolle hem to-gederys with þin hond, & lay hem on þe Stekys al a-brode, & caste Salt þer-to; þen rolle to-gederys, & putte hem on a round spete, & roste hem til þey ben y-now; þan lay hem in a dysshe, & pore þer-on Vynegre & a lityl verious, & poudere Pepir þer-on y-now, & Gyngere, & Canelle, & a fewe 3olkys of hard Eyroun y-kremyd þer-on; & serue forth."

Translated: Take fair beef cushions (meat from the buttocks), and a leg of lamb, and cut it into the manner of steaks. Take fresh parsley and small chopped onions and the yolk of a hard boiled egg with suet, bring them all together with ground ginger and saffron and rub into the meat with some salt. Then roll the meat together and push them onto a spit and roast them until done. Place in a dish and pour over a little wine vinegar and a little powder of pepper, ginger and cinnamon with some extra boiled egg yolks and serve it forth.

To pin it, and stop it from unrolling, push a small skewer through the steak. Rub some salt and freshly ground black pepper on the outside of the steaks to season. Cover and place the tray in the fridge for two hours to marinade the steaks.

After two hours remove the steaks from the fridge and leave the steaks, covered, to come up to room temperature. The steaks are now ready to be cooked. Brush each steak with a little melted butter, and then brush a little of the reserved red wine 'vinaigrette' from the ramekin on them. Grill them (or on a BBQ) on high heat on each side, turning them over after five minutes, (or earlier depending on their thickness) – when you turn them brush with a little more melted butter and a little more medieval 'vinaigrette' from the ramekin.

Put on a plate and crumble over the four remaining hard boiled egg yolks and a bit of chopped parsley for a golden-green garnish. Leave to rest for ten minutes then serve hot with thick slices of fresh bread.

Enjoy, Mx

The last chance hotel news

Good news! Arthur has finally found a really nice home after seven months in foster with me.

Honey and Bruce who were being fostered by Linda have also been rehomed which is great.

I currently have Tiny Tim in foster. Tiny is an 18month old staffy x terrier.

He loves people and craves affection. A really cuddly little chap. Good with other dogs, but best rehomed with a dog that isn't too assertive. He's not assessed with cats or children yet, but I will be doing this over the coming couple of weeks. He was saved from being put down in a government pound. I don't know how he ended up there, but he does get a bit stressed sometimes so needs reassurance. He's neutered vaccinated and microchipped.

My number is 07773 099029. More dogs that need foster homes and permanent homes are at www.lastchancehotel.org

Parish Council report

supplied to Trio by the Parish Clerk

Planning Applications : Full reports to Cornwall Council with regard to the Parish Council's decisions can be viewed on the Cornwall Council Website.

Minutes of the meeting are available of the St Endellion Parish Council website.

PLANNING APPLICATIONS

Meeting 16 December 2013

PA13/10619 - Replacement of old stone ramp and steps with prefabricated raised balcony/decking and balustrading to front entrance access

3 Coastguard Hill, Fore Street, Port Isaac

Members were concerned that this application, if approved, may set a precedent. The photography submitted with the application indicating what the finished product would look like bore little resemblance to the 'materials' described in item 10 of the application and Members found this to be misleading.

Supported with reservations

Meeting 2 January 2014

Plan A - PA13/11360 - Construction of dwelling (part demolition of existing dwelling)

86 Fore Street, Port Isaac

Members noted that uPVC windows have NEVER been acceptable in any of the previous applications regarding this property. They are still included in this application. The committee would like to point out that discussions with the Planning Officer confirmed the windows would be in WOOD - this was a condition so that the outcome is in keeping with other properties in the locality. Brick arches over the windows in the end gable should be of reused brick, again to be in keeping with the surrounding properties.

Plan B - PA13/11314 - Proposed new window and balcony 2 The Terrace, Port Isaac

Whilst members supported this application, it was with concern and regret at the loss of the integrity of the original style pair of buildings in an AONB.

Plan C - PA13/10736 - Dormer to side elevation to form WC The Shoebox, 1A Tintagel Terrace, Port Isaac

Members could see no reason not to support this application

CAR PARK

Damage in the car park, which appears to have been caused by a vehicle over the New Year period, is being repaired by Cormac and is covered by the Council's insurance. The Police have been informed and their enquiries and investigation are ongoing.

Other news on the car park:

- * Hydraseeding has been carried out and growth is showing already
- * Yellow lines and bay marking work is on order
- * Revenue for the car park to date is approximately £100,000 and at the moment income is around £18 average/day.
- * Problems were experienced over the New Year period with regard to the machines but thanks to the Enforcement Agency the matter was resolved.

NEIGHBOURHOOD PLAN

Members were mindful of tv programmes being aired regarding how prudent Neighbourhood Planning can protect the locality and agreed that St Endellion's own plan needs to be completed as soon as possible. Thanks to volunteers, Cllr Williams reported that the Plan is moving on.

PLAYING FIELD

Inspections by Cormac Solutions are being carried out and reported to the Council. Problems will be addressed and funds have been set aside in the budgets to do so.

GRANT

A grant of £300 has been made to the Trelights Village Green Committee to help them with Christmas lights and accommodation.

Local Charities, groups and organisations should contact the Clerk of the Council or Chairman, Cllr Coles to apply for funding. Please note applications should be in writing and if possible on the group's 'letter headed' paper (This may simply be created on any computer!). It should also be noted that a set of audited accounts may be requested in order to meet audit requirements. Please check with the Clerk for info and don't be put off asking for a grant !

TRAFFIC SIGNS

Signs are awaited from Cormac that advise no turning or parking beyond the fork at Trewetha Lane and also Back Hill. It is hoped these will be in place by the start of the holiday season.

BUDGET/PRECEPT 2014

The Council has set a precept of £22,500 for the fiscal year 2014/15. This is an increase of £2,000 which will add £5 per annum to a Band G property, £3 to a Band D property. Members were mindful that an increase had not been made for 11 years although costs in that time had increased significantly.

It was agreed that all the parish grass cutting, including the work contracted to the Parish Council from Cornwall Council, will be covered under one contract in the next financial year and will be advertised in the press for tendering purposes.

Also to be advertised will be a catering 'facility' at the car park. A Planning Application is being prepared in case this is a requirement.

CASUAL VACANCY

Janet Townsend resigned from the Council after the last meeting and so a Casual Vacancy exists. Details are on the Parish Notice Boards or enquiries can be made to the Clerk.

NEXT MEETING

The next meeting of the Council will take place in the School at 7pm on 10 February.

The Finance and Car Park Meeting will not meet this month due to lack of Members available.

Meetings are open to Members of the public

The Minutes of the Council Meeting and Finance/Car Park Committee Meeting are available on the Council's webpage and Parish Notice Boards - www.stendellionpc.com

VALENTINE'S DAY

The roots of St Valentine's Day can be traced back to the Roman fertility festival of Lupercalia. On Lupercalia, a young man would draw the name of a young woman in a lottery and would then keep the woman as a sexual companion for the year.
