Paul to run the London Marathon in memory of his Dad

Paul Grills is taking on this year's London Marathon to raise money for the Brandon Trust in memory of his Dad, Trevor. Said Paul, "My aim is to complete the marathon in memory of my Dad. He was a proud Cornish man who loved his family, his home in Port Isaac, watching his three boys play football and making the most of the opportunities that came his way, especially in the last few years of his life."

He was an ambassador of the Brandon Trust and a huge supporter of all the fantastic work it does for people with learning disabilities. Growing up with his brother John, who has Down's Syndrome, made Dad really appreciate the work organisations like the Brandon Trust do everyday."

The Fisherman's Friends have been helping Paul reach his target by collecting on their recent tour. You too can support Paul by going to his Just Giving page, <https://www.justgiving.com/Paul-Grills> Alternatively you can drop your donation off with Lesley at 18 Tintagel Terrace.

We all miss Trev and know just how proud he would have been to see the Trust is still being supported in his memory.

PORT ISAAC VILLAGE HALL EASTER TUESDAY CASH PRIZES

BINGO

EYES DOWN 7.30pm

It's on the calendar - March 23rd is the date set for the installation of the outdoor stair lift at the Village Hall. So by the time you read your next Trio there should be pictures of it in action (if you haven't already used it!). Plus the date will be announced for the special lunch that Dee & Cheryl promised to put on for the Golden Circle members to celebrate the easier access to the Hall ... watch this space.

Doc Martin Fund update

There are funds available for anyone/group who has a community-based project in mind for Port Isaac. Details of how to apply are at www.thedocmartinfund.org. After an exciting year of supporting local projects, listed on the website, the total currently available is £24,000. As you are probably aware, this increases month on month.

The Church Rooms

The Port Isaac Community Hall working group met the other evening and are now keen to raise awareness and funds for the project. We have a number of ideas towards this aim and plan to kick it all off with an evening of music in April. This will involve as many local musicians and groups as we can persuade to take part to make it a really enjoyable evening.

Watch this space for more information next month and come and join us if you are keen to be involved. We need lots of help and enthusiasm!

Newspaper recycling at its very best!

You may recall that backalong Trio reported John Collins was disappearing under a mountain of newspapers! We can now tell you that the newspaper mountain is no more and John would appreciate all your old newspapers to use to wrap the fish in down at the cellars.

Either drop them down to the Fish Cellars or give John a call on 880498 and he will collect it.

A Port Isaac Christmas

Port Isaac Projects would like to thank the Co-op for selling the community CD, A Port Isaac Christmas. They sold 24 copies and the total £240 will go to Port Isaac School.

2016 sees Port Isaac Rowing Club celebrating its 25th birthday - as part of its celebrations the Club will be telling the story of gigs and the club in Trio

PORT ISAAC

ROWING CLUB

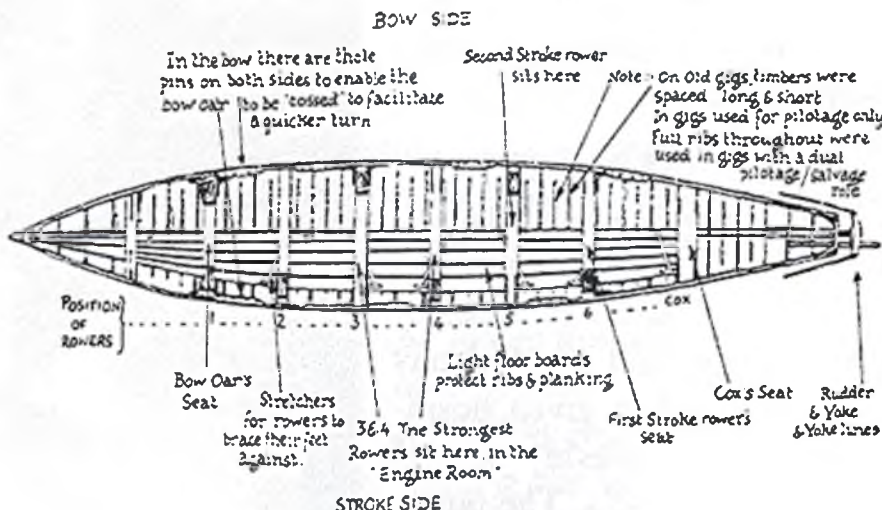

Pilot Gig Association, the governing body for the sport.

Competitions are held all around the Cornish coast each summer with one of the most popular in the Isles of Scilly, during the May Bank Holiday, at the beginning of the month. It's organised by the World Pilot Gig Championship Committee, at last year's event there were over 140 gigs competing, from more than 60 clubs. Pilot gig racing is now the fastest growing sport in the UK

The culmination of the season's competitions is the County Championship hosted by Newquay Rowing Club. It's held over two weekends, one for the ladies and, two weeks later, for the men. There are other significant events too: Juniors and teenagers, in two categories; under 14s and under 16s, have their own championship, so do veterans; competitors over the age of 40, with some regattas having a separate race for rowers of 50 years plus. In between these fixtures, many clubs hold their own race days, which are colourful, exciting and competitive, whilst helping to raise essential money to maintain the boats and other running costs. Many clubs also raise thousands of pounds each year for charity.

A brief history of Cornish Pilot Gigs

Cornish pilot gigs are a six oared rowing boat, with seating for the coxswain and an extra space for a passenger. Originally built from Cornish narrow leaf elm; Length 32 feet with a beam of 4 feet 10 inches, and painted in their company's own usually bright colours for easy identification.

During the 19th century, Cornwall was a centre of industry, such as mining and quarrying, and utilised the sea in order to carry goods to the rest of the country and beyond. The problem for the larger vessels was the often unseen rocky outcrops, which could be hazardous to captains unfamiliar to the seascape. So the Cornish pilot gigs had a key role to ensure the passage of these ships to inland waters and harbours. They carried a skilled pilot, on the spare seat, to the bigger vessels so that he could guide the ships in. Speed was essential as the first gig to reach the sailing ship would receive the purse, which would be shared between the crew. But the industrial revolution saw the decline of gigs, especially in smaller harbours such as Port Isaac.

Although racing for pleasure is recorded in the Western Morning News as early as 1885, at a regatta held in Padstow, the principal event of the day saw a gig named Tom Sawyer, from Port Isaac. It beat Padstow's boat, Constance, by one minute, winning a £3 prize.

It is also believed that these six oared vessels were the forerunners to lifeboats. At least it is well known that gigs were involved in many rescues at sea.

Nowadays, pilot gigs are used primarily for sport. There are clubs on the north coast as far as Wales and on the south reaching the Solent; and a long history of pilot gigs in the Isles of Scilly. Abroad there are clubs in France, Holland, the Faroe Islands, Australia and America.

All modern racing gigs are based on the boat Treffry, built in 1838 by William Peters of St Mawes, for Newquay. It's still owned and raced by Newquay Rowing Club. Each new boat is inspected to check it confirms to rigorous specifications. This ensures that all boats racing are of an equal standard.

The monitoring of each build is carried out by an appointed officer of the Cornish

Billy Bob Buttons Workshop

Class 2 were excited to have this children's author come into school and spend the morning with them. He shared his ideas on how to plan a story and also how to make a character interesting. Afterwards he signed autographs and books for those that wanted them.

Chinese New Year

All the children took part in a procession through the village to celebrate Chinese New Year. The nursery and reception children made a dragon, Class 1 made some lanterns and Class 2 carried an assortment of instruments. You may have spotted or heard them as they made their way down New Road and back up Hartland Road, chanting and singing happy new year!

Spirit of Adventure Day

This was a huge success and all the children worked together in teams to solve the puzzles they were presented with.

Camelford School success

Secondary schools in North Cornwall generally perform better than the national average. However, only one school exceeds the national average across all 8 indicators in the table below. Sir James Smith's in Camelford, and the second smallest school in Cornwall, is celebrating the exceptional success of its pupils. Headteacher, Jon Lawrence, says "our pupils perform brilliantly against local schools and in almost all of the key indicators come out at, or near, the top of the 32 secondary schools in Cornwall. Regardless of ability, all our pupils performed magnificently, at least 4th best in County. Our brightest pupils performed better here than in any other Cornish school, something made possible by the partnership working of teachers, pupils and parents/carers.

No school in Cornwall added more value to the performance of its most disadvantaged pupils than Sir James Smith's did. This is a school where all pupils matter and no-one is left behind, a virtue of being a small school. We set high standards and have ambitious expectations of all our students. We are so proud of how well our pupils have done and are looking forward to continued success in the future. The school has undergone a transformation in the last few years and we are now seeing the result of this".

John Anthony Pearson

09.03.1947-09.02/2016

The funeral service was held for John at St Peter's Church, Port Isaac on February 23rd. The Reverend Elizabeth Wild officiated. Lucy, his daughter-in-law, read the lesson and his sons, David and Simon, gave the Eulogy which captured the essence of John as always being upbeat and positive, someone who people naturally warmed to, and he never let life's challenges get him down.

As a family we started coming to the area over thirty years ago, first staying at Trevathan Farm and then buying a house in New Road. We have lived here permanently for 15 years and as a couple joined the RNLI, the Chorale and restarted the Neighbourhood Watch.

John's other interests were the Camel Arts Society, playing table tennis, first at St Breward and then at the U3A. He loved sailing his Laser Dinghy and he played golf at Roserrow. He enjoyed cycling and going away in the motorhome. He was not always so keen to walk the dogs, especially if it was raining.

He continued to work and there are many extensions in the village he obtained planning for. He was born in Birmingham and worked for many years for Bass Brewery designing pubs and restaurants. He was also commissioned to draw architectural perspectives of buildings in the UK and abroad. This style was reflected in his paintings. He loved designing new buildings and there are a few examples of his work in the area.

The family would like to thank everyone for their support, thoughts, flowers, cards and words and for attending the Celebration at St Peter's. The Chorale's rendition of the Rhythm of Life and Give me Sunshine was a very fitting tribute. The Celebration continued at Trevathan Farm Restaurant and the day was a great comfort to the family.

Thank you all.

Pat Pearson

Thomas Edward Allan Chadband

Allan was born on November 24th 1934 to Tom and Eva Chadband. He grew up with his sisters, Betty and Mary. He went to Port Isaac Primary School until he was 15 years old. Three months later he joined the Royal Navy as a boy entrant where he progressed successfully and became an adult member when he was 18 years old.

The Navy was his love and life. Much of what he did was "classified" work so he rarely spoke of it in any detail. Keen to get on he took and passed his exams making through to finish as Fleet Chief Petty Officer (Warrant Office), the highest rank he could get unless he took a commission to become an officer. He preferred to stay a non-commissioned seaman, training the lower ranks in torpedo and anti-submarine warfare at which it appears on reading through his Naval history, he excelled.

In his early years he spent a lot of time at sea aboard various ships, mainly Frigates and Destroyers, in many parts of the world. One such draft took him to Hong Kong where he spent many happy times with Gwen (nee Glover) and her husband Barry, a member of the Fleet Airarm, stationed there.

There were some very dangerous incidents, but not many he shared. One he was able to tell about was the "Cod War" where Iceland imposed an illegal 12 mile limit and tried to stop any foreign fishing boats catching fish within that area. There were many incidents of collisions and ramming reported on the TV news. In a Force 12 storm his ship got swamped, the engines failed and they were broadside on to the waves. The crew were each allowed one phone call home in case the worst happened. Luckily repairs were made and all ended well and a badly damaged ship made it back to Plymouth.

After his 33 years Naval service, Allan worked for Dennis Knight in the fish business where he stayed until his 65th birthday and a second retirement.

He enjoyed working our veg garden at Trewetha; fresh produce was a daily luxury for us. He also enjoyed showing the best of his labours in the village garden show where he won many trophies.

In his later years he took on the British Legion Poppy Appeal from John Cunningham. Each year he aimed to achieve a higher monetary total than the previous year which he managed to do. As his mental and physical health deteriorated he was unable to continue, reluctantly admitting defeat and handing over to Annie Price.

For the last year of his life it became impossible for him to be cared for at home so moved into residential care until he fell and broke his hip. This was repaired at Treliske with rehab at Bodmin Hospital. Unfortunately he did not recover sufficiently to return to the care home but was transferred to Cedar Grange in Launceston for more intensive care where he very peacefully passed away on February 13th.

Thank you

To everyone who attended Allan's funeral.

To Judith for conducting the service

To Steve, Martyn, Jeremy and John, the bearers

To Dennis for the eulogy

To Peter Bower, the British Legion Standard bearer

To funeral director, David Bray and his staff

To Bonnie and Sam at the Old School for the reception afterwards

For the cards and messages of sympathy and for the donations made to the Port Isaac RNLI Crew Fund

Port Isaac Playing Fields Association

The Association's 'First Steps' Community Action Plan has been submitted in its final form to the Community Development Foundation. A copy of the submitted plan, which is based upon the association's development scheme for the playing field and the various community consultation events linked to it, has also been sent to the Parish Council's Chair and Clerk. Once it is formally approved by the end of February it can be posted onto the council's website.

The Playing Fields Association is now exploring project funding opportunities. The Acting Chair attended a Cornwall Playing Fields Association seminar in St Stephen last November and will have attended a 'Meet the Funders' seminar at Saltash by the time you read this.

A public funding programme called the Atlantic and Moor Local Action Group has expressed an interest in supporting the first phase of the design. Based on this costed design from the architects, the PC recommended that £75,000 be set aside as an 'earmarked reserve' for the playing fields. This is a huge endorsement by the Parish Council of our efforts so far.

The landscape architect who produced the preliminary development design has been asked to provide a fee proposal and budget estimate for the planning application. Some thought must now be given to how the project is advanced. Through the First Steps programme we have demonstrated community support for a playing field development and secured a preliminary design. However, PIPFA is an unincorporated association and cannot therefore hold public grants: the Parish Council, which owns the field has to do that. There are three PC members on the Playing Fields Association committee but they are non-voting members and we sometimes struggle to achieve a quorum of voting members.

The work starts here if we are to make good use of one of our most outstanding assets: this could become a first class sporting and recreation amenity for our community. We need more voting members and (promise) do not have long meetings.

Parish Council report

supplied to Trio by the Parish Clerk

Waste Collection in Port Isaac

At their February meeting Members met with Mr James Ortiz and Ms Stephanie Crocker, Cornwall Council to discuss the change of waste collection in Port Isaac. Mr Ortiz explained the background and the need to implement some new legislation. Port Isaac was one of the areas where this is to be trialled. There would be changes to various categories of waste collection. They will be looking closely at second homes / self catering waste collections, which now attract a disposal fee in addition to the collection fee. The first phase will be to look at the lower part of the old village. The next phase will include the rest of the village and Port Gaverne. Ms Crocker said they were working with the contractor, Cory, to reduce the daily household collection to weekly, in line with the rest of Cornwall. Trade waste, including that from second homes / self catering premises, would still be collected daily. It is hoped to introduce the new regime on / near 12th April 2016.

Concern Wadebridge

Members also met with Mr Andy Lyle, Concern Wadebridge – an organisation supporting older people in Wadebridge and outlying parishes. He said the Betjeman Centre was a charity and had been running for over 30 years. They are looking at implementing a voluntary car service to help people get to their doctors, etc.

Another project is to introduce mobility scooters, wheelchairs, etc. that could be used by the public in Wadebridge. £40,000 will be spent to improve the Centre for use as a community hub / café. Various support groups had been set up. Long-term they would like to set up satellite groups in the surrounding villages

Planning

2. PA16/00384, St Endellion Parish Hall – demolition of existing hall, construction of new community hall and formation of new driveway to The Rectory. Members voted unanimously to SUPPORT this proposal.
3. PA16/00385, St Endellion Parish Hall – listed building consent for demolition of existing hall, construction of new community hall and formation of new driveway to The Rectory. Members unanimously SUPPORT this proposal.

Enforcement Cases – for information only

1. EN15/01014, Land North East of Port Gaverne Hotel – levelling of the land and importation of hardcore to create a car park for customers of the Port Gaverne Hotel. A large caravan and shipping container had also been brought onto site. It is understood that St Austell Brewery intend to submit a planning application i.r.o. the car park.
2. EN15/01190, Harbour Heights, Rose Hill, Port Isaac – alleged non-compliance with approved plans. New access track and parking space created. Case officer – Serena Wearne closed this case on 24th November 2015. Details of her summary of closure are as follows: "Works have been completed to re-grade track out of the land and build up the hedge. I consider the works satisfactory and have closed my case accordingly."

RNLI Ball

Members have agreed to grant permission to the RNLI to hold a Ball in a marquee on the playing field, on 22nd October 2016.

The Leat Sluice Gate

A site meeting had been held with the Fire Service and Environment Agency. The Agency do not have an issue with the sluice as long as it does not block the Leat, however, the Fire Service are insistent that it is kept in working order. Members have, therefore, agreed to fund repairs to the sluice gate.

Casual Vacancy

We have yet to be able to fill the vacancy on the Parish Council. If you are interested in serving your community in this way, please contact the Chairman, Cllr. David Raynor, Tel: 01208 880581, Email: David.raynor@unicombox.com.

This is a most worthwhile way to benefit the local community and it would be splendid if some public spirited person would step forward.

Our MP, Scott Mann talks to Trio

In the space of only one day in February, North Cornwall secured two victories for railway funding and local government funding.

Early on in the month, South West MPs discovered that the Peninsula Rail Task Force was in need of additional funding to carry out two essential studies into electrification and line-speed improvements. With the Task Force set to issue a full report in June about what needs to be done to modernise our railways, these studies are essential to inform the government how to extend electrification through the South West and to speed up the lines.

As a group, we lobbied the government urgently for these funds, and as a result, the government has negotiated for the Great Western Railway franchise to fund the studies. As the main operator in the region, it shows that they are committed to improving the regions railways.

Since the election, the Cornwall, South West and nationwide rural MPs have been campaigning for fairer local government funding. At the moment, rural local authorities have a huge disparity in funding compared to urban areas, which means they have higher council tax rates and higher costs to provide services.

We have been asking the government to provide more money for rural authorities, and on the same day as securing the railway funding, we were told that the Rural Services Delivery Grant, which provides additional money for authorities, will increase from £15.5m this year to £20m in 2016-17, and then to £65m in 2019-20. This means Cornwall Council will get another £3m next year, and I want to see this spent sensibly and locally. There are many libraries, public toilets and leisure centres that could do with it.

These two victories for the constituency and the region are testament to what can be achieved when MPs from one party work together for a common cause.

Meanwhile, the six Cornwall MPs have come together to launch a '100 Apprenticeships in 100 Days' campaign. Apprenticeships are fantastic because they allow young people to earn and learn at the same time, and we want to highlight why apprenticeships are a great for skill based learning and to start a career.

I announced our campaign in the House of Commons and asked the government minister responsible for apprenticeships to support us. My constituency office has employed an apprentice and I urge businesses across North Cornwall to consider doing the same.

On Friday, 5th February I had the Second Reading of my Speed Limits on Roads (Devolved Powers) Bill. Private Members Bills (PMBs) are debated on a number of Fridays throughout the Parliamentary year, and due to the high ratio of bills against time available, many don't get debated.

Fortunately I was able to debate mine before time ran out on Friday, and because the government could not support the Bill in its current form, I decided to withdraw it and instead lobby ministers for change. Many PMBs don't see the light of day, and I feel very fortunate to have debated mine for a second time and further raise awareness on the issue of speeding, devolution and empowering communities.

RNLI COFFEE MORNINGS

AT THE STATION

Saturday March 26th
& Easter Sunday March 27th

10am - 2pm

A warm welcome is extended to all those who take the opportunity to look in and meet up with our RNLI team as they open for the first time this year, introducing the very latest range of custom Port Isaac RNLI clothing, unique to the station, a great range of cards covering images of our lifeboats through the ages, and a range of special art reproductions of our lifeboats in action.

Plus we will be unveiling the new, specially commissioned painting, Christmas Delivery, donated to Port Isaac RNLI by well known local artist Rosemary Grattan for which draw tickets will be on offer for the first time.

In addition, it is hoped we will have copies of our new book, 'Port Isaac Lifeboats, An Illustrated History' - a great opportunity to read about and study the extensive collection of historic and present day images following the development of our historic Lifeboat Station from 1869 to 2016, including the boats and the volunteers who serve the RNLI. Priced at £9.99, all proceeds will go to Port Isaac RNLI.

CREW NEWS

As crew we have many training requirements and commitments that enable us to be as competent and safe as possible when placed in situations and environments that we often find ourselves in, and the RNLI do an amazing job of ensuring we have access to the best training and kit - however this comes at a price. It is therefore down to some pretty special individuals that come together to make some awesome teams and it is these teams that encourage people to part with hard earned cash to help cover those costs. These people and committees are the unsung heroes of the RNLI and we are lucky to have the very best behind us. It therefore gives me great pleasure, on behalf of the crew, to congratulate David Raynor and Bob Bulgin who have both been awarded the RNLI Golden badge for their tireless work and dedication over many years. David and Bob, backed by their committee, have ensured that the yearly total raised has increased year on year, and the actual figures will be shared at the AGM but 2015 has been an all time record! So again, David and Bob, we are proud to have you as a part of our team and from the crew CONGRATULATIONS!!

Since my last post in Trio we have had a busy time, introducing new crew, developing new systems within the RNLI and training with the new SAR unit based at Newquay. Firstly both crew and committee would like to welcome the second generation of Hambly to the station as Harry Hambly joins us as crew. Harry has already been afloat and shown he has the salty roots of his dad and Grandad!

On the evening of February 12th we had the great pleasure of carrying out our first exercise with Coastguard 924, the new search and rescue entity run by Bristows out of Newquay. The new helicopter is bigger, faster, more efficient and more capable than the old SeaKing and the crew showed outstanding capabilities which meant we felt no difference between working with them in comparison with the military teams from Culdrose and Chivenor. Our first exercise was a baptism of fire as we conducted it in complete darkness but the three lifts and lowers couldn't have gone any better and great fun was had by all. We look forward to training and working with them in the future. We are doing a base visit in March so look out for the picture in the next Trio.

ALL WELCOME

Apart from the election of key officers, a general summary of the Station's activity and the signing off of the 2015 Accounts, which will be kept as short as possible, we are most fortunate this year to have a well known speaker in the maritime world, Naval Architect Tim Parr, MRINA.

Tim has been a member of the Royal Institution of Naval Architects for over 50 years starting life in the marine industry as an apprentice Shipwright and Marine Engineer at Vosper Ltd. As he has advanced within the marine world his range of work has covered many interesting projects and appointments including Project Manager for three major foreign warship contracts as well as serving on The Ships Committee of the Maritime Trust for over 20 years. He was a founding director of the Cornish Maritime Trust and Maritime Museum Cornwall.

Tim will be presenting the fascinating story of The Armed Steam Cutter Falmouth Trust and on going restoration of the Royal Navy 35 foot Steam Cutter No 26 built between 1910 and 1912 and carried by the Light Cruiser HMS Falmouth when assigned to the 5th Cruiser Squadron, operating in the mid Atlantic in World War I. This boat was carried on board through the Battle of Heligoland and survived the Battle of Dogger Bank and the Battle of Jutland and onwards through a chequered career spanning 106 years! This is a truly unique story of a boat that refused to die, and is today about to continue its sea going adventures.

Websites of the Month

As I write this column it is a wonderful sunny day. The colours really come out when there is some sunshine and we have had precious little so far this year. I took a walk from Wadebridge along the Camel Trail towards Bodmin and the number of different water birds was wonderful. Along the way they have a hide where you can watch the birds without disturbing them. With all the rain we have been having the water meadows were full and it looked like there was plenty of food. I particularly liked the Redshanks (see photo). There were lots of primroses out and it really felt like Spring (officially a month away). So this month I thought I would look at websites about birds and bird watching as we have some really good twitcher places near us.

As a start an excellent all-round site for wild life is the Cornwall Wildlife Trust with a section on birds www.cornwallwildlifetrust.org.uk/wildlife/species-explorer/animal/birds (also on Facebook www.facebook.com/CornwallWildlife/ and Twitter @CornwallNature). They give a very comprehensive account of the birdlife across the County. The combination of website and social media gives a both in depth information and also news, events and discussion on all things to do with wildlife in Cornwall.

The Royal Society for the Protection of Birds website is of course, only about birds www.rspb.org.uk and it is a very good source of detailed information. You can see pictures of pretty well every British bird, find out about their habitats and hear their calls. This covers bird and bird life across the UK and also has sections dealing with national policy issues on things like access to the countryside and climate change.

For more specialist information about birds and birdwatching in Cornwall you should head to the Cornwall Bird Watching and Preservation Society www.cbwps.org.uk/cbwpsword/ which has a long history. It was founded in 1931 and there is a really nice page all about how it started and who was involved in its founding meeting – clearly a gathering of the great and the good! There is also a really nice photograph of the Lt Col. Looking every inch a Cornish gentleman.

"The Meeting of Inauguration was held in Truro on 17th January at the instigation of Lt.Col. B.H. Ryves. It was unanimously agreed that a Society be formed. Lt.Col. Ryves outlined the ideas which he had in mind when he conceived the hope that an Association of bird lovers in Cornwall might be formed. These had been clearly stated in an appeal published in the "Western Morning News" on 3rd October 1930. It was unanimously agreed that a Society on the lines indicated be formed, and Lady Vivian was elected President, Lt.Col. B.H. Ryves and Mr. G.H. Harvey Joint Hon. Secretaries, and Mr. C. Nicholson Hon. Treasurer. The following were elected Members of an Executive Committee: Lady Vyvyan, Mrs. Bewes, Major John Williams and Messrs. A.C. Polwhele and R.H. Meares."

One of its best features is a recent sightings page where members can record what they have seen. So a couple of days ago Siskin, Grebes, Great Northern Divers, Water Rail, Spoonbill, Chough, a variety of tits, ravens and many more. There is an impressive picture of one of the ravens in flight. They are seriously big birds. This site also has very good links to other bird watching organisations and websites.

And there are some interesting sites about how birds are coping with all the changes in the weather. Some of you may have participated in the recent Big Garden Birdwatch <http://tinyurl.com/hx6yy9j> which ends in a few days from when I am writing. On the website it says that so far over 6 million birds had been logged, and over 300,000 people have taken part.

The big player in bird counting, though, is the British Trust for Ornithology and this keeps a record of trends www.bto.org/about-birds/birdtrends/2015. So for the Redshank you can see a chart of its decline in numbers that probably is caused by drainage of its habitat (which made it all the nicer to see them along the banks of the Camel Trail. There is also a European wide survey of bird numbers <http://www.ebcc.info/pecbm.html> that has similarly useful information about the bird species that are doing well, and those that are going to need some help.

Happy twitching!

Good, well made stock

There are good fresh stocks on the market now but, frankly, they cost a fortune, and a good well made stock will help lift your food to another level. I've concentrated here on meat stocks, I will deal with fish another time as there are a different set of rules.

A good chef keeps clean vegetable peelings, herb stalks, and, of course, any bones to make stock. At the St Kew Inn we make two stocks each week as the base for our gravy, depending on which meats we have on for Sunday roast.

For a versatile stock the basics are water, bones (1kg of bones will produce 1 litre of finished stock), trimmings or giblets, celery, onion, carrot and a few "aromatics" such as parsley stalks, a bay leaf or thyme sprigs (or ideally all three tied in a bundle), plus six or so peppercorns. Stock isn't salted to avoid over-seasoning your finished dish.

For brown meat stocks: Put the bones (veal, beef or lamb) into a large, sturdy roasting tray with 2 unpeeled and halved onions. Roast in a hot oven for an hour until well browned. Put the bones and onions into your largest saucepan and fill the pan with cold water. Add a few peeled and halved carrots, 2 halved celery sticks, a few peppercorns, 2 bay leaves, and a few fresh thyme sprigs and parsley stalks.

White stock: This skips the browning step, has a paler colour and gentler flavour. For white chicken stock, follow the brown stock recipe as above, putting raw bones, vegetables and aromatics straight into the pan with water to cover. Use as large a pan as possible and cover the bones and vegetables with plenty of water.

Boil then skim: All stock is boiled once to begin with, bringing froth to the surface of your stock. Using a ladle, skim off the scum (the froth that floats on the surface). Skim that scum, often and well, in the early part of stock making. You will likely have to do this three or four times after the stockpot comes to a good bubbly simmer. After that, the nastiness will have been purged from the bones, and you can relax, leave the top off the pot and just watch that it doesn't boil. Good, clear stock is simmered slowly and gently so reduce the heat until bubbles bob lazily to the surface. It won't need much attention, except a top-up with boiling water now and again. A slow cooker is perfect for this and can be left all day and night to simmer. Meat stocks take at least 6 to 9 hours, so big batches are most economical.

To strain the stock: Pour the contents of the pan through a strainer into a large, clean bowl. Skim off any fat from the surface. Leave the stock to go cold, then chill overnight. The next day, lift off the solidified fat on top.

Reduce and store: To boost flavour and to save space, boil strained stock down by half (you can always add water back again). Chill and use within 3 days, or freeze.

White onion soup with cider and cheddar

Serves 4

120g unsalted butter
600g large onions, sliced
6 thyme sprigs
1 tbsp sugar
1 tsp salt
400ml white chicken stock
450ml sweet cider
200ml crème fraîche
1 baguette, sliced
1 garlic clove
100g Davidstow cheddar, grated

1 Put a pan over a medium heat and add the butter. When this has melted, add the onions to the pan, together with the thyme, sugar and salt. Cook over a medium heat, stirring occasionally, until the onions are lightly caramelised and golden – about 12 minutes.

2 Add the stock and cider, bring the soup to a simmer, and cook for 10–12 minutes. Take the pan off the heat and stir in the crème fraîche. Remove the thyme sprigs, pour the soup into a blender and blend until you have a smooth purée.

3 Toast the slices of baguette until golden on both sides, then rub with a cut clove of garlic. Top with the grated cheese and grill until the cheese is melted and golden. Place a few slices in each bowl of soup to serve.

I hope that you find the time to try making your own stocks, until next month enjoy Mx
