PENNY MILE SUCCESS

A very big "thank you" to everyone who helped, attended or contributed to Port Isaac's Penny Mile. We raised a whopping £626.91 for Barnardo's. Of this total a rather heavy £324.11 was made of 1p and 2p coins, so getting on for half a mile. There were so many coins, it took three days to count them! It was a really lovely afternoon; the sun shone and it was great to see everyone who came along to help lay down (and pick up!) the copper coins.

Well done everyone!

ARTS COUNCIL ENGLAND

As part of its tour of Cornwall, the Canvas Theatre Company's production of The Coastguard's Daughter is stopping off at Port Isaac Village Hall on Friday November 3rd. This true story has a big Port Isaac connection as it was written by Olivia Lowry, whose family come from Port Isaac. Said Olivia, "The Coastguard's Daughter is based upon a true story of the previous inhabitants of Pentewan, my home village. After hearing their story I could not let it go. I began working with a local historian and neighbour researching the story further. After reading through newspaper articles, memoirs and military records, I began to write the tale of The Coastguard's Daughter."

With five star reviews and sell-out performances, each performance is a little bit different, with local singers taking part and adding their voices to the story. Here in Port Isaac it will be Gulls who are adding their voices, singing songs of the sea. Tickets, priced £9 each (£7 for children or concessions or £25 for a family ticket) will be on sale in Secrets here in Port Isaac or online www.carntocove.co.uk or www.crbo.co.uk

Trelights Chapel News

First of all, many thanks to friends and visitors who have supported the endeavours of the Chapel "family" over the past year, from our Christmas Fayre fundraising for the Children's Hospice and the Air Ambulance to our Summer Fayre for Chapel funds (interior building work and redecoration). Both events raised substantial money thanks to everyone's generosity.

The Summer Fayre, now familiar as the Chapel Fete, was held in the garden opposite by kind permission of Peter and Pam Hall. It was a great success in terms of enjoyment and reward. Opened by the retiring minister, Rev Peter Smith, it attracted many visitors as well as local friends. Mrs Betty Armstrong contributed greatly to the happy atmosphere with her accordion playing, whilst the fine weather helped the preparations. Many hands made light work and once again we were grateful to Ross for his assistance in organising the gazebo construction.

Just a few weeks later we were preparing for the Harvest Festival celebrations which were again blessed with much local support. Donations arrived from garden and orchard and there was good attendance at the Sunday and Monday evening services, the latter being followed by a bounteous supper provided through the culinary skills of the lady members. The fruits of the Harvest were then auctioned to provide additional funds.

On September 16th we were further blessed with the Chapel being chosen for the wedding of local boy Glen Dingle whose parents, Gilbert and Brenda and grandparents Bill and Bertha Dingle worshipped here for many years; a lovely celebration conducted by our new Minister, Rev Sally Long. Special thanks are due to Janet Chadband for the beautiful flowers.

One other item of interest. Earlier in the year Doc Martin's 'crew' filmed in the schoolroom adjoining the Chapel. So Port Wenn's fame could be spreading to the suburbs! Whatever, their care of the premises was exemplary.

We look forward to greeting friends again in December for our Christmas Fayre - date to follow.

Jon Cleave becomes a Bard of the Gorseddh Kernow

On Saturday September 2nd, in the grounds of Launceston Castle, and after several months of secrecy befitting the Oscars, Jon Cleave became one of nine new Cornish Bards. Jon was approached back in the winter to see if he was interested in taking up the position, and after gleaning sufficient understanding of the role, decided that he would go ahead and accept a position regarded by many as a great honour for a Cornish person.

Nominees for Bardships are judged to have made notable contributions to Cornish life and culture, and Jon's include his award-winning novel and his writing on subjects of a Cornish nature (ten books to date), his children's book illustrations, collaborations in song writing, some stage and a little screen acting, voice-over and media work, and of course his performances with the Fisherman's Friends over many years. Jon has also done much work in Cornish schools, including workshops in writing, storytelling and singing.

The event itself was a very dignified and special occasion, and Jon was delighted to enter the circle of Bards alongside John Buckingham of Padstow, who was initiated at the same ceremony. 'Nice for a 'town crow' and 'yarny goat' to get done together,' said Jon, referring to the friendly (mostly!) rivalry between Port Isaac and Padstow.

Jon continued, 'To have been made a Cornish Bard is a very special feeling. It was a fantastic day, beautiful weather, and my family were all there to support me and were genuinely moved by the content and narrative of the ceremony. In particular my mum Yvonne (89) was very proud to see her boy in his robes! I am, of course, very aware that many of the contributions I have been able to make to Cornish culture have been done alongside my friends The Fisherman's Friends; it's been some journey we've been on together and long may it continue. Also, I doubt whether I would actually have got involved in music at all unless it was for Janet Townsend back in the early 1990's - I had been unceremoniously chucked out of my primary school choir for being a 'growler' and had not uttered a note between the ages of eight and thirty - so thank you Jan for bearing with me.'

Jon's Bardic name is Lev Enev an Tir - if you want to know what that means, you'll have to ask him!

Harvest of the Sea Community Project

THE PELICAN HAS LANDED

perched on high in St Peter's Church being fed by the community shoal of fish

In the past Harvest was always celebrated in the various churches and chapels in Port Isaac. There is plenty of evidence in the historical archives of this annual event being marked as a special time in the calendar. Following on from these traditions of the past, the theme of 'Harvest of the Sea' has been rekindled in our community project. This has included the school and various groups of all ages and involved artists, film makers and musicians. Its aim is to celebrate, share and document the rich fishing heritage of Port Isaac.

Everyone's hard work and fish making over the past few months, under Caroline Cleave's guidance, culminate with the final two events of the project ...

Harvest of the Sea Festival

Don't miss the lovely family Harvest of the Sea Festival in St Peter's Church on Sunday October 1st starting at 4pm and ending with tea and cake. In the middle there will be excerpts from the community film that has been made by Hana Backland, recording the project and which will find its permanent home in the PISCES archives. Everyone is invited to come along and enjoy the afternoon.

World Fish PI(E) Competition and Harvest Lunch

The Grand Finale is the World Fish PI(E) Competition on Saturday October 7th. You can enter your fish pie, or if you prefer to bake, a fish cake. Take your entry along to Port Isaac Village Hall for judging at 11.30am (make sure your pie is hot if you are going to donate it to the lunch). The judges are Nathan Outlaw, Chris (Lanyon) and Jan (Chadband). And if you don't want to take part in the making you can take part in the eating at the community lunch that follows. Fish Pie and Fish Cake will be available until it's all gone for a £3 donation to charity.

THE BIG SWIM
A CORNISH BEACH TO BEACH RACE - RAISING MONEY FOR CHARITIES

This year was a tough one for The Big Swim! The unprecedented early August summer weather has disappointed many events, from small fetes to large festivals, but thankfully due to the spirit and planning, hundreds swam in the harbour in Port Isaac. The feedback was great, and there were many comments on how 'hard the course was', despite being in the harbour.

With everyone completing the mile in a crazy 'all in race' around the mapped out course in Port Isaac, swimmers thankfully still got the swim despite the rough sea. Of course let's not forget the incredible 'little swimmers' who also swam in the harbour crossing the finishing line, to excited and tearful parents.

The Big Party rounded off the day with epic performances from our own local Jamie Hewitt, Freshly Squeezed, Antimatador and Jack Be Nimble. Huge thanks to John Bray and Partners who again sponsored the amazing stage, and to Sam Williams and sound team who once again gave everyone a night to remember. Not forgetting our sponsor, SHARP'S who are now renowned for being very generous and giving all those lucky swimmers (over 18) a FREE delicious pint of their choice at the Sharp's Bar!

The energy and atmosphere once the races started, was electric, as swimmers went all out to achieve their best possible time. Congratulations to all the winners who swam the distance in exceptional times.

Winning male: Ryan Huckell in a staggering 17:36:30!!!

Winning female: Trish Brennan 20:30:80 very impressive!

Sadly numbers of swimmers who turned up on the day were down.

Due to this, the money raised is less than last year, with many no shows that didn't bring sponsorship. Understandable, but sad for our charities, which is what this event is all about. HOWEVER, for those who did swim and continue to support this event, we hope to see you all again next year. We are due a great swim in 2018.

HUGE THANKS GO to ...

Our wonderful sponsor SHARP'S BREWERY for all their continued support, FREE pints to all the swimmers, donating from the bar sales to charity and their fab team and continued encouragement.

JOHN BRAY AND PARTNERS for again sponsoring our fantastic stage!!!

Special thanks to ROCK TORS and POLZEATH LIFE SAVING CLUB who provided water safety on the day under the organisation of Richard Sanders.

EVERYONE who volunteered and helped who make this day such a success! There are too many to mention but you know who you are. We couldn't do it without you. A special mention to Andy Penny, who works his socks off all day - thank you. You're a star.

We are delighted to have been able to donate this year's proceeds of the swim to:

£2,500 The Cornwall Air Ambulance
£2,500 Port Isaac RNLI
£2,000 The Little Harbour Hospice
£2,500 National Lobster Hatchery
£1,500 Polzeath Life Saving Club
£1,000 Port Isaac Village Hall
£1000 Trewetha/Port Isaac DEFIB machine
TOTAL RAISED £13,000

Last year's money raised was £16,000 That means that since 2011 YOU have raised £73,461.37 for local charities

Thank you all for your continued support!!!!!!

Swim times are on the website.

2018 date to be released soon.

THANK YOU FROM THE PORT ISAAC CARNIVAL GIRLS!!

Well, what can we say? Thank you so so much to everyone who put so much effort into helping us make this year's Carnival Day such a success and such a fun day. At the end of the procession somebody came up and said, "All I have seen for the last hour is every single person smiling and laughing." And that is what it is all about!

During the day the kids had fun playing on the bouncy castles, having glitter face paints from our own Glitter Fairy Jade, watching Punch and Judy and getting creative and making fish with Leza and Ashley. The BBQ was run by the Port Isaac BBQ MASTER Mr Andy Penny with his helpers CJ, Sarah and Jamie and everybody had fun playing on the Human Fruit Machine with Rosie B and her entire family!

As is tradition, we had our annual Tug of War competition in memory of Nick Bunt. After a little bit of cheating and a few changes to the teams we eventually had a winning team, led by Nick's son Steve Bunt (much to Sue's disgust!).

And then came the fantastic procession. Thank you to each and every one of you who made the effort to join in. The floats were of such a high standard. Everybody looked great - from the gorgeous children, who all looked so sweet on their floats to the Gulls, who all looked - well how can I describe it - not so sweet but just absolutely hilarious dressed up as life-size cuddly seagulls!

We finished the day with children's entertainment, a live band and a disco and the last men (and women) standing all had a great time dancing the night away.

There are so many people to thank and we're sure that we have forgotten people but a big shout out goes to:

The Dawes for bringing and taking away all the hay bales for us
Caroline, Ashley, Barbara, Jo & Leza for face painting and creative fun
Juliet and Jill for helping us with registration
Everybody who helped with marshalling and Richard Sanders for helping us with our road closure
CJ, Sarah, Jamie, Andy Penny, Bunty, Liam and Mark Grills for help on the day
Craig the bin man for going out of his way to help us keep the Playing Fields clear of rubbish and all the businesses in Port Isaac who donated such brilliant raffle prizes.

Please remember to look after the big trophies that were won as we will need them back for next year.

And could I ask that EVERYBODY who has entered the carnival on previous years has a good look in their lofts, sheds and on their shelves for the WENDY SMITH MEMORIAL TROPHY. This trophy was donated to the carnival by Roy and Jenny in memory of their daughter and it has not been returned. It is really important to them and us that we get it back. Thank you!

And here's to next year - let's make it even bigger and better!

Jam Experiment are a British 5-piece band that are based in London. They won the 2014 Jazz North Introduces Scheme, shortly after their debut gig supporting Liane Carroll. They have played at leading jazz festivals and venues across the UK, leaving audiences in awe. The lineup includes the winner of the inaugural BBC Young Musician Jazz Award, saxophonist Alexander Bone, trombonist Rory Ingham, Toby Comeau on piano/keyoboard, Joe Lee on bass, and Jonny Mansfield on drums. Alexander Bone and trombonist Rory Ingham were both voted as runners-up in the best instrumentalist (respectively) of the year in the British Jazz Awards 2016, and both were nominated for "Rising Star" in the 2016 British Jazz Awards, with Bone crowned Rising Star.

Jam Experiment display a fresh, energetic and honest approach of original compositions and arrangements. All band members write music for the band and contribute musical ideas equally, creating a beautifully varied set of music, and a very individual, cool and funky sound. This gig will be part of their 40 date UK Debut Album Launch Tour!

Harvest ...

As part of the Harvest of the Sea project, that has involved the whole community, we have put up our Fishing Exhibition in St Peter's Church. The Church is open everyday at least from 10am-4pm so now that things are beginning to quieten down a bit why not call in and enjoy the peace of our beautiful village Church, our exhibition and all our archives on our touch screen.

Alternatively everything can be found on our website,

Over the summer we have recorded over 6000 visitors into St Peter's and the visitor's book recorded lots of lovely comments about our Trio Exhibition.

"The Harvest of the Sea, Port Isaac

Thanksgiving services for the harvest of the sea were held on Sunday in Port Isaac Church, which was effectively decorated for the occasion. The walls of the nave were draped all round with fishing nets, to which here and there were hung offerings from the men's latest draught. Arranged in the windows and other parts were various fishing apparatus, relieved by boats' flags and flowers. The altar was beautifully adorned with choice chrysanthemums, as also were the font and lecturn."

Harvest

Harvest time was always very hectic. The hay harvest was not so bad but food still had to be cooked and taken to whichever field was being harvested. Olive Cann, who lived with her mother in what is now Twelve Acres', used to give my mother a hand with household chores during the summer. She and my Aunt Amy were very persistent with their cooking tuition. Looking back, they must have realised my mother's lack of interest in being a 'proper' farmer's wife was going to put the May family name for good harvest food in jeopardy, so I was their target. Also, they said it was likely I would marry a farmer so I needed to know about cooking proper food; splits, yeast buns, saffron cake, pasties and pastry were high on their agenda. Some of my first attempts would have killed a cat if aimed precisely, but their persistence was constant and by the age of thirteen or fourteen I could hold my own with them. They were also my tutors for butter making and plucking, drawing and dressing poultry.

Today we still have four Harvest Celebrations in our small parish. Trelights Chapel usually start off in early September followed by the Port Isaac School, St Peter's Church and Port Isaac RNLI Harvest Festivals.

Roscarrock Chapel decorated for its Harvest Festival around 1930 - the Wesley and Roscarrock Chapels attempted to outdo each other for the harvest displays and both were intent on being better than St Peter's Church!

Autumn, the time of new beginnings ...

Autumn colours are very beautiful to my eyes, leaves of deciduous trees that turn from green to hues of orange or red and bronze, eventually falling to the ground and giving their goodness back to the earth. It signifies, like so many things in autumn the end of the season. Just recently, though, I have become more aware about the new things of autumn, noticing that it is also a time of fresh beginnings. We wait with baited breath for new series and dramas to begin on TV. Babies are born to parents bringing a fresh dynamic to existing families and lots of 'firsts' for new mums and dads. New jobs and promotions can abound for some and who can forget those Facebook posts? Photos of children who have just begun nursery or primary and secondary school, all in their brand new, slightly ill-fitting uniforms!

I too have had a new beginning this autumn as I started training as a priest. On another spiritual level courses such as 'Alpha' have begun to help men and women of all ages dig deeper into the BIG questions about life and death and faith, about the love of God, the sacrifice of Jesus and the work of the Holy Spirit in the life of believers. Whatever those new beginnings are for each of us, one thing is for sure they certainly bring challenge. Jobs, schools, courses and babies may well make us question how we live and what is important to us, how and what we prioritise and how we make room for the new while ending other things well.

Rosh Hashanah is a Jewish festival that takes place in the autumn. It is the time of the Jewish New Year and before the celebrations of the new begin they have what is called the ten days of 'awe'. It is a time for people to deal with the unfinished business of the past year. A time for quiet reflection on lessons which could have been learned, an opportunity to re-set priorities, to sort out broken relationships, give to charity and generally tying up loose ends. Whether we are actually starting something new or not, we can all have a time of 'awe' allowing God to do a new thing within us. The quieting of autumn after a busy summer and before Christmas preparations start is a good time to do it. I pray that each of us will take the opportunity to have a time of 'awe' that will bring us much peace and order in our lives.

Scott Mann, our local MP, writes ...

I'm appalled to hear that two rejected developments in North Cornwall are being appealed in the High Court. Proposals by Good Energy to build a wind farm in Week St Mary and by Redrow Homes to build 190 houses in Wadebridge were both rejected by local councils and Cornwall Council, and again by the Planning Inspectorate on appeal. Both developments received widespread objection from local communities, but despite this, they are now being appealed in the High Court.

Understandably, local people in Week St Mary and Wadebridge are angry at this news, and I too am very disappointed that both developers are failing to listen to the will of local people or accept the decisions taken by Cornwall Council and the Planning Inspectorate. Both planning applications received a lot of scrutiny from local planning officers and national planning inspectors, with the wind farm even being rejected by the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government.

I have written in the strongest terms to both companies to tell them exactly what local communities think of their legal action and to ask them to reconsider. Local people, local representatives and planning experts have made judgements on these two proposals and they need to be respected.

In Parliament I am co-chair of the Local Democracy Group, which champions towns and villages to have a louder voice and more influence in the planning process, and that's why I am very disappointed that these two companies are failing to listen to local communities.

Meanwhile, I'm very pleased to see that North Cornwall's schools will be receiving hundreds of thousands of pounds in extra funding after the Government published its new National Funding Formula last week, which includes an extra £1.3 billion for schools. I've spent the past two years campaigning for fairer school funding so that our small rural schools get the same amount of money per pupil as a school in an urban area. The new formula, coupled with the extra funding, will see every primary and secondary school in North Cornwall getting an increase in funding. I'm delighted by this outcome as it is a funding increase for every child in education in North Cornwall.

MPs have also been debating the EU Withdrawal Bill which enables us to leave the European Union after the Brexit negotiations have concluded. In order to have a smooth exit, all EU laws and regulations that govern us must be transferred into UK law at the moment that we have officially left. This means businesses and government agencies can continue to function properly. After that, Parliament is free to repeal, change or keep these laws as it sees fit. In particular, it will mean the UK is independent to improve environmental protections we have in place which were originally implemented by the EU.

Recently in Parliament we also celebrated National Farming Day to recognise the exceptional work of farmers as food suppliers and protectors of the environment. We have real opportunities to better protect our environment reach after we leave the EU, and I will be supporting more protection going forward.

SCHOOLCHAT

news & views from Port Isaac School

Welcome

Our new school year is underway and we would like to welcome all the new families into our school, already it seems like they have always been here, so quickly have they settled in.

Harvest of the Sea

This term we are working with a songwriter to create and perform a song for the village Harvest of the Sea celebrations. We are also excited to see our feathers and fish, which we made with the help of Caroline and Reg, on the finished sculptures.

Bikelights 2017

The theme this year for Bikelights is minibeasts. Class 2 spent a morning researching different minibeasts and designing structures to be attached to our bike which will be taking part in the event. The children had the chance to look at each other's designs and vote for their favourite.

Charlie in year 6 got the most votes for his design so it will be sent to Reg to have a look at before he comes into school to work with the children in year 5 and 6 to transform our bike.

Potatoes, potatoes, potatoes!

Class 2 were delighted to dig up the potatoes we started to grow last term. We had enough to cook up a feast for everyone. Some potatoes were baked and the rest were boiled. We all agreed that they were delicious.

REMEMBRANCE SERVICE in ST PETER'S CHURCH

If anyone can help either with street collections, static collections or in the Co-op it would be great. Contact me asap on 01208 880660.

Olive Strout

Fish Pie

So with the Harvest from the sea theme, I started to look at seafood pie recipes, and as you can properly guess there are lots and lots of them, so what makes a good fish pie?

First up the topping - Do you go pastry and if you do, do you line the base of the pie, I like a short crust base and a puff pastry top, this would work for a fish pie as the short crust pastry will hold the filling whilst the puff pastry with all it's buttery goodness gives you the wow factor.

Or do you go for what in my mind is the classic, a potato topping, but again how do you do the potato. Do you slice them and par boil and then arrange like fish scales, mash them and spoon on and mark with a fork, or pipe them! And just to throw a curve ball at you Delia has a recipe with potato rosti on top?

Next up the filling - For me you need a smoked fish in the filling, and smoked haddock is easily available but hot smoked salmon could be used instead, Ok, next some white fish and some prawns and mussels. I know that stargazy pie used sardines but we all know the story why. I find that too much oily fish will over power the pie.

For the filling you need a sauce - A white sauce is the classic version, but the French came up with a sauce that is a commination of stock and milk/cream, if you want to go the French way, cook off the mussels in white wine, onion and garlic, and when cooked pick out the mussels and keep the cooking liqueur, use the juice to make a white sauce and add cream/milk to it. Some might like to poach the smoked haddock in milk and then use the milk infused with the smoked haddock to make the sauce. Whilst I get this I like my fish cooked just once and by cooking the smoked haddock twice it will be over cooked.

Optional extras - I am just going to list of ingredients I think work, cheese, eggs, gherkins, capers, leeks, curry powder and herbs.

Basic Fish Pie

INGREDIENTS

1.5kg mussels, cleaned
200g natural dyed smoked haddock
250g sustainable prawns (raw or cooked)
150g sustainable salmon
3 shallots, diced small
2 garlic cloves, finely chopped
half a fennel bulb, very finely chopped
1 leek, finely chopped
1-2tbsp Pernod
250ml white wine

The béchamel

50g butter
50g flour
500ml milk or double cream
1 lemon's zest
1tsp Madras curry powder

The mash

1 kilo large Désirée potatoes
125ml double cream or milk
50g butter

In a large pot on medium heat, gently sweat the shallots in a little butter until soft. Cook for a couple of minutes. Add wine and reduce by two thirds. Splash in Pernod and reduce for 30sec. Add mussels and cover and steam for 4-5min, shaking pan occasionally. Strain and save the cooking liquid. Discard any mussels that haven't opened after cooking and pick out meat from the rest.

Simmer potatoes for 20min. Drain, beat in butter, season and add a little milk or double cream. Season.

Melt 50g of butter in a pan, sauté the garlic, leeks and fennel. Add flour and stir for 1 min. Take pan off the heat and stir in the 500g of milk, bit by bit, stirring constantly until you have a creamy sauce. Pop on the heat after a few minutes and continue stirring. Add the mussels' cooking liquid and garam masala. Season to taste. In a pie dish, place the fish and all the seafood over the bottom, grating over the lemon zest. Pour over the béchamel sauce. Top with the mash. Fork the top to make a rough finish. Bake at 180C for 35-40min until golden.
