

Port Isaac Music Festival 2008

What a weekend! Actor Ian MacNeice conducted the official opening ceremony and a huge crowd braved the biting wind to enjoy Port Isaac's very own Fisherman's Friends on Friday night.

The bad weather on Sunday put paid to the planned outdoor programme but everyone decamped up to the Village Hall to listen to the debut performance of the steel drum workshoppers who had taken an intensive drumming course the day before. Steelbridge from Wadebridge School then showed how it should be done!

The whole weekend was full of local talent and the Village Hall rocked every night. Saturday night saw local band Wild Raspberries followed by Mick, Nancy and friends who got everyone up and dancing. The Boscastle Busker, John Maughan, fresh from his birthday celebrations was joined on stage on Sunday night by his wife Cheryl. 'One Night Stand' ended the night.

The final night saw a young band from Perranporth, The Midnight Hour who will definitely be invited back to Port Isaac. Ending the night was The Deja Blues Band making it a night to remember.

The organisers would like to say a huge thankyou to everyone who took part and to everyone who supported the weekend.
