

Wesley House, Middle Street

It is possible that Wesley stayed in this house when he preached from the Manor House, hence the name of the cottage?

More recently, the property was bought by the Fletcher family in 1950. They spent every holiday, summer and winter, here until 1975 when John and Margaret retired and came to live permanently in Port Isaac.

Joan Murray remembers, "Bec Lobb used to live here."

In the 1930s: "The two Lobb brothers married two sisters. Mrs Lobb and her lovely daughter Eileen lived at Wesley House (opposite in Geranium Cottage lived Mr & Mrs Lobb).
