

First and Last, Trewetha Lane/Rose Hill

First and Last sits on the junction of Trewetha Lane and Rose Hill. Rose Hill was once one of the first main roads into Port Isaac and was probably the reason this junction was named First and Last; it was the first place you came to as you entered the village and the last place you passed on your way out!

In recent years the original building was sympathetically replaced - pictures to the right. The other pictures are of the old building that stood there and when it collapsed during the building work.
