

Greengates, Church Hill

This was once a warehouse owned by Warwick Guy (1821-1905) and the remains of a 'teagle' hoist are still here above the first floor door in Middle Street. The house dates from the mid 1800s although it is thought that it was originally a water mill dating from the 1400s.