

Pride of Place

This was once John Neale's shop, an ironmongers that old paraffin. Everything in and around the shop smelled of it but the shop specialised in earthenware.

In the 50s and 60s this was Mrs Titterington's shop and sold sweets, toys and stationery. It was then an antique shop for a short time and is now a fudge shop.

Sylvia McCrohan ran the shop in the 1980s until the late 1990s. Today it probably best known as the Chemist's shop in Doc Martin.
