

The Trigg, Fore Street

This was the Bunt family home. Altair Bunt had a shop next door (now the white house pictured above) selling sweets. More recently the shop was the Piskie Gift shop.

Altair was a native of Penzance and married a Port Isaac girl from the Lobb family. He was one of the few people who owned property in the village at that time. He was also many years ahead of fashion as he wore a gold earring.
