

Wavehunters

This was once John Hick's butchers shop which he ran with his son Jack and daughter Nell.

Later it was run as a Fish & Chip shop by Mrs Isobel Keat, widow, and her son Gordon, who lived next door.

In the 1960s it was an Antique Shop run by Georgy Dawe. He reputedly used to leave a sign in his window saying he could be found in the pub!

Sandy & Jim May ran it as a Crab & Lobster shop from the 1970s until Wavehunters took over.

In the adjoining 'Cloam Cottage' loved Paddy McGann, widower, and his two daughters Eileen and Dulcie.
